Italy Putting Much Money Into Former Territory To Influence Press

PARIS, Dec. 15—(UP)—France pushed plans for tightening military and sentimental ties with her territories in the Mediterranean today in preparation for an eventual showdown with Italy.

Following official declarations that France would fight — with British support—for every inch of her territory, the government was bolstering the French colonial position generally.

1. Corsican war veterans and government officials joined with patriotic groups to organize a "national holiday" coincident with the visit of Premier Edouard Daladier to Corsica early in January. The purpose will be to affirm attachment to France and oppose Italian clamor for the island.

2. Indications that France was preparing to combat German claims to her pre-war colonies were seen in the arrival of Governor Montagne, French resident commissioner of Togoland, to Paris to consult government officials regarding the future of that former German colony.

STATE TRIBUNAL UPHOLDS CRIME EXPERT'S OUSTER

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—(UP)—The state supreme court today had sustained authority of State Welfare Director Margaret Allman to suspend Howard G. Robinson, of Newark, from his former position as superintendent of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation at the London prison farm.

Mrs. Allman ordered the suspension for "disciplinary" purposes. Robinson filed a mandamus action in the court of appeals which ruled against the director. The supreme court, however, reversed the lower court decision.

Robinson was suspended as of Nov. 17, 1937 and he was ordered removed from his post on Dec. 11, 1937. Although the suit was pending in the courts he resigned Jan. 31, 1938.

Oakley Spaght, assistant state welfare director, said that so far as he knew Robinson had not pressed the suit since his resignation, but that the courts had wanted to clear up such points as whether you could suspend for disciplinary action or whether you had to present specific charges."

DANIEL C. ROPER

CAPITAL HEARS OF RESIGNATION

Task Of Handling Estate Of Son-In-Law Hastens Commerce Chief's Act

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(UP)—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper intends to resign from the cabinet in the near future, possibly soon after the first of the year, the United Press was reliably informed today.

For several months Roper has denied flatly that his resignation was impending. Today he declined to comment on the subject. It was learned, however, that he has told close friends he contemplated resigning at the end of Mr. Roosevelt's first term, but that the President prevailed on him to remain.

The death of Roper's son-in-law, David R. Coker, wealthy seed grower, about two weeks ago, it was said, has made Roper unwilling to reconsider his decision to quit even if asked to do so by Mr. Roosevelt. The personal responsibilities of handling Coker's numerous business enterprises are so great that Roper believes it imperative that he leave the government service.

BRIBERY TRIAL OF OHIO SHERIFF NEARS ITS CLOSE

ELYRIA, Dec. 15—(UP)—The oribery trial of William F. Grall, former Lorain county sheriff, entered its final round today with attorneys' concluding arguments.

"I took payments from Maxine Barbour," Grall had testified, "but I gave the money all back so she would help me solve a murder case I was working on."

The Barbour woman, whose place near here was run under the name of "Penny Morgan," is being sought under an indictment charging she made payments to the former sheriff during late 1937 and early 1938.

Testimony brought out that these payments were made to William G. Smith, former chief deputy, who then brought them to the sheriff's office.

"There was an agreement," Grall testified, "that Penny would be allowed to operate her places in return for clues that might provide solution of a Lorain murder.

"After I split with Smith, I made up the differences and returned the whole payment to Penny."

TOLEDOAN MAY WIN OHIO MOTOR LICENSE POSITION

JEWS PAY FIRST PART OF GREAT 'DEBT' TO NAZIS

$100,000,000, Quarter Of Levy For Vom Rath Death, Goes To Germans

BANKS HAVE BUSY DAY

Stocks, Bonds Transferred As Government Declines Direct Payments

BERLIN, Dec. 15—(UP)—Tens of thousands of German Jews today handed over to the Nazi government a $100,000,000 installment of the $400,000,000 fine levied on them because of the assassination of Ernst Vom Rath, secretary in the German embassy at Paris, by a 17 year old Jew.

It was a gigantic bookkeeping operation, essentially, which gave the German banks one of their busiest days. Shares of the fine were levied on those Jews whose total possessions were more than $2,000. The operation proved principally to be a transfer of huge amounts of Jewish deposits from ordinary banks to the Prussian state bank which was designated to receive today's installment.

There was very little direct transference of money or stocks. Banks generally did the main work by notifying the Central bank that specified sums were to be transferred to its account.

Transfers Prepared

Banking experts said that Jews for several days had been instruct-

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR FINDLAY FATAL TO TWO

FINDLAY, Dec. 15—(UP)—An automobile collision in which two persons were killed and five injured was investigated today by Dr. H. O. Crosby, Hancock county coroner.

Paul Buckley, 28, of Whitehouse, O., and Mrs. Morrell Hoover, 26, of Rawson, O., died of skull fractures and internal injuries after the collision of two cars at a road intersection eight miles southwest of Findlay late Wednesday night.

Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Hoover's son, Lawrence, 4, were in Findlay hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Waltimer Spaeth, 23 and 18, and their two-year-old daughter, Margaret Ann, occupants of the second car, also were injured.

Lawrence Hoover was the most seriously hurt. Both his legs were broken and he had a compound facture of one arm.

Buckley died in the hospital 30 minutes after the accident. Mrs. Hoover died on the way to the hospital.

Spaeth, who was driving on a state road, told authorities that he saw the other car, driven by Buckley, on a county road and thought it would stop at the intersection.

COUNTY COURT WILL BE QUIET DURING HOLIDAY SEASON, JUDGE DECIDES

No jury cases will be heard in Common Pleas court during the remainder of December. Judge Meeker Terwilliger announced Thursday that the case of the State of Ohio, ex rel., Evelyn Binkley against James M. Binkley, involving parentage proceedings, scheduled for Monday, Dec. 19, has been vacated. No other cases have been assigned.

Judge Terwilliger said he planned to dispose of motions and demurrers during the remainder of the month in preparation for jury cases after the first of the year.

Grand and petit jurors for the January term will be drawn Saturday.

BLACK LEGION'S CHIEF CARRIES APPEAL HIGHER

LIMA, Dec. 15—(UP)—Attorneys for Virgil H. Effinger, former Black Legion commander, indicated today that they would carry to the United States supreme court his legal fight against extradition to Michigan, where he is wanted on charges of criminal syndicalism and possession of explosives.

The Ohio supreme court late Wednesday dismissed his appeal from lower court decisions which had refused to grant him a writ of habeas corpus.

Effinger's extradition to Michigan was ordered in 1936 by Governor Martin L. Davey. At that time, he was wanted for questioning in connection with Black Legion alleged terroristic activities at Detroit.

Effinger walked out of the extradition hearing room at Columbus in August, 1936, and did not surrender to authorities in Lima, his home, until Dec. 3, 1937.

A long court fight on his habeas corpus proceedings followed. Both the common pleas and appeals courts refused to supercede the extradition order and the supreme court held that no debatable constitutional question was involved.

Effinger, at liberty under $5,000 bond, could not be reached for comment today. He is represented by Attorneys J. K. Rockey and Clarence Miller.

LEADER OF BUND ON WEST COAST TO LOSE RIGHTS

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15—(UP)—Immigration authorities undertook today the unusual procedure of revoking the American citizenship granted Herman Max Schwinn, Hamburg-born leader of the German-American bund.

United States Attorney Benjamin Harrison said the attempt was based on discrepancies of dates for Schwinn's naturalization, approved here six years ago.

Harrison said only a "go-ahead" from the attorney general's office in Washington remained before court proceedings are filed citing Schwinn to show cause why he should not lose his citizenship.

No comment was made on the possibility of a deportation should Schwinn's naturalization be voided.

Schwinn said if any discrepancy occurred it was unintentional.

"This would not have arisen if it had not been for my opposition to Jews and Communists," he declared.

GLAMOR GIRL TO MARRY TOPPING, RECENTLY FREED

PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 15.—(UP) — Gloria Baker, society's glamor girl of the 1936-37 season will marry Henry J. Topping, Jr., of New York, Monday.

Topping was divorced by his first wife, Jayne Shadduck, the actress, on Tuesday. A wealthy society man, he has shown marked attention to Miss Baker for some time.

STATE CANNERS CHOOSE SMITH FOR PRESIDENT

Ohio Organization Closes Convention; Directors Elected

James I. Smith, Jr., S. Court street manager of the Esmeralda Canning Co., is the new president of the Ohio Canners' association, taking a position once filled by his late father. Mr. Smith was elected Wednesday at the closing session of the association at its convention held in Columbus. He served during the last year as vice president.

R. C. Sharp, of Celina, was chosen vice president and Roy Irons, of Clyde, was named again as secretary.

Four new directors were chosen, including E. C. Thatcher, DeGraff; C. T. Vandervort, Wilmington; Harry Vanderhorst, St. Mary's, and F. L. Dutton, Columbus. Other members of the board are N. C. Buckles, Bradford; George S. Wenger, Sandusky, and Arthur Hamilton, Lebanon.

The convention heard addresses by several leaders in the canning business in which problems facing the industry were discussed.

Howard A. Orr, of the Winorr Canning Co., is a past president of the Ohio Canners' association and the National Canners' association.

BALDWIN JOINS EDEN'S SIDE FOR FIRMER POLICY

LONDON, Dec. 15—(UP)—Earl Baldwin, regarded as the most influential conservative figure in Great Britain, is backing Anthony Eden's demand for a firmer foreign policy, it was understood today.

Baldwin was Neville Chamberlain's predecessor as prime minister. It was he who handled the abdication crisis, he who caused a world sensation when, as national leader, he announced that Great Britain's frontier henceforth was the German Rhine, not the English channel.

It was Baldwin who caused the German Nazi boycott of a banquet only Tuesday night at which Chamberlain criticised German newspapers for "heaping vituperation," on him—"the most respected of our statesmen."

Now, it was understood, Baldwin is quietly coaching Eden in the demand that the British government firm up its policy toward the dictator nations.

FOURTH INFANT BORN TO COUPLE IN CITY HOSPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wolfe, Circleville Route 1, announce the birth of a son, Thursday, in Berger hospital.

The new arrival is the fourth child born to the couple in Circleville's hospital. The other children are Lois Ann, 7; Phillip, 4, and Mary Jo, 15 months.

Hospital attendants say the four children do not establish a record in the hospital as there are other parents who have had four children born in the institution. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. William Defenbaugh, Salt Creek township, who have four daughters, all born in the hospital.

Berger hospital was eight years old last July.

Ruth Tells of Death Threat

ON THE stand in Los Angeles court at the trial of her former husband, Martin Snyder, accused of shooting to kill Myrl Alderman, music arranger and her former accompanist, Ruth Etting, the radio and screen singer, testified that Snyder once telephoned her from New York to say he was "coming out there and kill you." Alderman followed Miss Etting on the stand to show the bullet wound inflicted by Snyder, Oct. 15. Snyder pleads self-defense in the shooting. Miss Etting and Alderman were wed Wednesday in Las Vegas.

Ohioan Sees Wife Drown As Car Skids Into Lake

Still dazed from the shock of seeing his wife swept out into the lake by eight-foot waves, his legs bruised and blue where the waves dashed him against rocks, Keleher told of the accident.

"We were going to a party at St. Patrick's Catholic church," he said. "I couldn't have been going more than about 25 miles an hour.

"As I passed East Boulevard there were about 10 cars coming toward me and I saw the first one splash through some water where the waves were breaking over the boulevard. I put on my brakes and started to skid.

"I struck the first car—a fender I think, and the impact sent me skidding the other way. We struck the curb and went off over the side, down onto the rocks.

"As the car tilted to one side the right door came open and my wife was flung into the water. Then the car was resting on its right side and I had to climb out through the window.

"A wave struck me and knocked me against the rocks. Then the back-wash started carrying me out into the lake. The waves carried me in and out three or four times.

"I can't remember much after that, except I vaguely remember some men trying to get us out and thinking that they would be able to save us."

His daughters, Lucille, 13, and Sally, 10, sat in a corner weeping as the father talked.

After a search of several hours, police, firemen and coast guards gave up looking for Mrs. Keleher's body last night. Coast guards began the search again today.

The accident was blamed on ice which had formed beneath the water from spray of the waves that were breaking over the boulevard. After the accident traffic was cut off while the section was salted and cindered.

OHIO GRANGERS SEEK TO BOOST PRODUCE PRICES

AKRON, Dec. 15—(UP)—Delegates to the Ohio State grange convention today were to act on resolutions at the closing session of their 66th annual meeting.

A resolutions committee and a dozen sub-committees have been weeding out less important resolutions during the first three days of the convention. Resolutions offered covered such subjects as crop control, taxation, soil conservation, highways, cooperatives and insurance.

Louis J. Taber, master of the national grange, told members at a banquet last night that "America's number one problem is falling farm prices and continued unemployment."

"However, I see a bright ray of hope in the fact that America's farmers no longer are looking for miracles to bring immediate relief," Taber said. "Everywhere we find them getting behind long-term programs of improvement.

FINANCE CHIEF EVADES QUERY ABOUT CHECKS

Certification Of Ohio Fund To Match Federal Cash Delayed

AUDITOR'S AIDE TO ACT

Hayhurst To See Allison; Treasury's Condition Cited

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—(UP)—Failure of State Finance Director M. Ray Allison to certify the state's half of old age pension funds today held up mailing of December checks to 112,000 Ohio pensioners.

Allison refused to comment when asked why the state had not certified funds to the state auditor's office. Certification for the federal share of December funds has been received from the Social Security board.

Allison merely said: "I am not in the pension business today."

There was some speculation whether the state could meet its pension obligation for the month in view of depleted year-end treasury balances. Allison recently declared the state might have to "scratch" to find the money.

Mason Hayhurst, office manager of the auditing division, said he would try to see Allison late today for a certification. For the first time in three months, the pensioners can receive their check on schedule if the state allocates its share of funds. Hayhurst said all checks would reach pensioners by Christmas if the certification comes through now.

HEAVY SEA KEEPS 18 SHIPWRECKED MEN IN DANGER

JUNEAU, Alaska, Dec. 15—(UP)—Heavy Winter seas keep 18 shipwrecked seamen isolated for the fourth day on the barren shores of Cape Fairweather.

Two navy planes and a private craft dropped emergency rations to the men, survivors of a crew of 20 aboard the famous old trading ship, the Patterson. It went ashore Monday.

The coast guard cutter Haida was unable to take the men off the beach because of the danger in sending a small boat through the surf.

Sheldon Simmons, pilot of the private plane, said he had dropped maps to the men showing them the route to reach Lituya Bay, 25 miles to the South.

Simmons said that if the men decide to go overland the cutter or naval seaplanes could pick them up.

ICKES DECLINES TO ENTER RACE FOR CHICAGO JOB

CHICAGO, Dec. 15—(UP)—Headquarters of the "Draft Ickes For Mayor" club of Chicago announced today Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes has declined to become a candidate in the 1939 city election.

Prof. Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago, chairman of the "Draft Ickes" club, said the interior secretary notified him of the decision this morning.

RELIEF CLIENTS FILING AFFIDAVITS OF STATUS

Affidavits on the financial condition of relief clients are being obtained by the county relief department. D. H. Marcy, relief director, said Thursday that these affidavits are obtained every three months in compliance with state regulations. He reported there are about 150 families averaging four persons each on the county relief rolls at present.

Ohioan Sees Wife Drown As Car Skids Into Lake

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15—(UP)—While coast guards searched for the body of his wife, Walter Keleher, 41, told today how their car plunged into Lake Erie after skidding off Lake Shore boulevard in Gordon Park here.

Still dazed from the shock of seeing his wife swept out into the lake by eight-foot waves, his legs bruised and blue where the waves dashed him against rocks, Keleher told of the accident.

"We were going to a party at St. Patrick's Catholic church," he said. "I couldn't have been going more than about 25 miles an hour.

"As I passed East Boulevard there were about 10 cars coming toward me and I saw the first one splash through some water where the waves were breaking over the boulevard. I put on my brakes and started to skid.

"I struck the first car—a fender I think, and the impact sent me skidding the other way. We struck the curb and went off over the side, down onto the rocks.

"As the car tilted to one side the right door came open and my wife was flung into the water. Then the car was resting on its right side and I had to climb out through the window.

"A wave struck me and knocked me against the rocks. Then the back-wash started carrying me out into the lake. The waves carried me in and out three or four times.

"I can't remember much after that, except I vaguely remember some men trying to get us out and thinking that they would be able to save us."

His daughters, Lucille, 13, and Sally, 10, sat in a corner weeping as the father talked.

After a search of several hours, police, firemen and coast guards gave up looking for Mrs. Keleher's body last night. Coast guards began the search again today.

The accident was blamed on ice which had formed beneath the water from spray of the waves that were breaking over the boulevard. After the accident traffic was cut off while the section was salted and cindered.

OHIO GRANGERS SEEK TO BOOST PRODUCE PRICES

AKRON, Dec. 15—(UP)—Delegates to the Ohio State grange convention today were to act on resolutions at the closing session of their 66th annual meeting.

A resolutions committee and a dozen sub-committees have been weeding out less important resolutions during the first three days of the convention. Resolutions offered covered such subjects as crop control, taxation, soil conservation, highways, cooperatives and insurance.

Louis J. Taber, master of the national grange, told members at a banquet last night that "America's number one problem is falling farm prices and continued unemployment."

"However, I see a bright ray of hope in the fact that America's farmers no longer are looking for miracles to bring immediate relief," Taber said. "Everywhere we find them getting behind long-term programs of improvement.

FINANCE CHIEF EVADES QUERY ABOUT CHECKS

Hayhurst To See Allison; Treasury's Condition Cited

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—(UP)—Failure of State Finance Director M. Ray Allison to certify the state's half of old age pension funds today held up mailing of December checks to 112,000 Ohio pensioners.

Allison refused to comment when asked why the state had not certified funds to the state auditor's office. Certification for the federal share of December funds has been received from the Social Security board.

Allison merely said: "I am not in the pension business today."

There was some speculation whether the state could meet its pension obligation for the month in view of depleted year-end treasury balances. Allison recently declared the state might have to "scratch" to find the money.

Mason Hayhurst, office manager of the auditing division, said he would try to see Allison late today for a certification. For the first time in three months, the pensioners can receive their check on schedule if the state allocates its share of funds. Hayhurst said all checks would reach pensioners by Christmas if the certification comes through now.

HEAVY SEA KEEPS 18 SHIPWRECKED MEN IN DANGER

JUNEAU, Alaska, Dec. 15—(UP)—Heavy Winter seas keep 18 shipwrecked seamen isolated for the fourth day on the barren shores of Cape Fairweather.

Two navy planes and a private craft dropped emergency rations to the men, survivors of a crew of 20 aboard the famous old trading ship, the Patterson. It went ashore Monday.

The coast guard cutter Haida was unable to take the men off the beach because of the danger in sending a small boat through the surf.

Sheldon Simmons, pilot of the private plane, said he had dropped maps to the men showing them the route to reach Lituya Bay, 25 miles to the South.

Simmons said that if the men decide to go overland the cutter or naval seaplanes could pick them up.

ICKES DECLINES TO ENTER RACE FOR CHICAGO JOB

CHICAGO, Dec. 15—(UP)—Headquarters of the "Draft Ickes For Mayor" club of Chicago announced today Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes has declined to become a candidate in the 1939 city election.

Prof. Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago, chairman of the "Draft Ickes" club, said the interior secretary notified him of the decision this morning.

RELIEF CLIENTS FILING AFFIDAVITS OF STATUS

Affidavits on the financial condition of relief clients are being obtained by the county relief department. D. H. Marcy, relief director, said Thursday that these affidavits are obtained every three months in compliance with state regulations. He reported there are about 150 families averaging four persons each on the county relief rolls at prosent.

COUNTY SCHOOL MUSICAL WINS MANY PLAUDITS

350 Persons Fill Ashville Auditorium To Hear Program

PARTICIPANTS PRAISED

"Childe Jesus" Offered As Cantata; Nearly 250 Take Part

A crowd estimated at 350 persons enjoyed the Pickaway county music festival held Wednesday night in the auditorium of the Ashville-Harrison high school.

George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, classed the festival as "the best one ever held." Miss Edith M. Keller, supervisor of music of the state department of education, a guest at the festival, highly complimented the music teachers of the county and the groups presenting the program. The festival was the fifth given by the county schools.

One hundred and seventy-six pupils were included in the chorus and there were 71 in the county orchestra. Miss Bernelle Goodman, music instructor of Muhlenberg township school, was conductor of the orchestra. Accompanists were Miss Doris Leist, Pickaway township school, and Miss Helen McCord, Walnut township school. Selections by the county orchestra were presented at the opening and closing of the program.

The "Childe Jesus," a Christmas cantata, was sung by the chorus under the direction of Miss Ollie M. Ater, vocal instructor of Perry township school. Accompanists were Miss Kathryn White, music instructor of New Holland school, and Miss Winifred Roudebush, music instructor of Walnut township school.

Soloists were Edwin Dean, Janet Kirk and Stella Mae Skinner, Perry township school; Charles Dreisbach, Deercreek township school, and Harry Hott, Muhlenberg township school.

Selections were presented also by a string trio from Capital university.

CHIEF OF P. W. A. PUTS APPROVAL ON CONTRACTS

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—Administrator L. A. Boulay of the Public Works Administration in Ohio today approved a $6,934 contract to Emerich Company of Columbus for heating and ventilating the school addition for Perry township, Pickaway county, and a $9,920 contract to Stanbury and Stout company of Circleville for a school building in Madison township. A $1,250 contract for plumbing in the latter was awarded to Gessling Plumbing company of Lancaster. Mr. Boulay said that the money for these contracts which were let last month was now available and that work could proceed.

These approvals leave but one P.W.A. project yet unstarted in the 1938 program for Pickaway county. It is a school addition at Ashville which it is estimated will cost $7,000. It is to be let to contract Friday, and if satisfactory will be approved finally and the money be made available before the end of next week, Mr. Boulay said.

ASHVILLE BOARD TO OPEN BIDS ON SCHOOL JOB

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

A member of the school board told us that at their meeting just held, they paid all bills and fixed the time for the holiday vacation. School will be dismissed Friday evening, December 23 and remain so until January 2, 1939—Monday. In so far as this member knows, no bids have been received for the construction of the 2-room addition for which plans have been drawn. But it is a bet worth doubling that there will be more than one at the contract letting tomorrow, Feb. 16.

—Ashville—

Work must begin on construction before Jan. 1, or the federal grant of near $5000 can not be used. But the Supreme Court bench, 50 strong, headed by the judge himself, has volunteered its services in seeing to it that that first dirt will be flying aplenty before the deadline date.

—Ashville—

And while on school building, school board clerk of Madison township, Frank Dum, told us that their new school addition structure is "coming along fine, all under roof, closed in, and in a few weeks more will be ready for occupancy, and the first entertainment in the new auditorium." We are, and have a good right to be proud of what we have done for our school," he continued.

—Ashville—

One of the hybrid seed corn boys, Lerton Pinto, out at the Roger Hedges plant, asked us if we had any idea just how fast a corn grain multiplied and proved to us with an ear of corn, which contains on an average of 1000 grains, that a single grain of corn in a couple of years will produce enough to cover the entire corn belt of the country. And this is the whole truth — figure it out for yourself.

—Ashville—

Another Ashville bunch, other than the surgeons we told about a few days ago, is over at Canton running most of the place. Orville Weiser, charge of banks, at least charge of part of one; Clarence Kern, hotel manager; Vernon Fridley, life insurance agency; the Fuff sisters in the schools; and the best part of New York City inhabitants are local people—Bill Lane and Emerson Squire we have in mind. There are several million more there but they don't count for much.

—Ashville—

Christmas Sunday school programs as announced by the three local schools. Lutheran exercises and those of the Brethren will be held on Sunday, Christmas evening. And the Methodist school on Sunday morning, the 18th. The Church of Christ in Christian Union school has not yet announced the date of its exercises.

—Ashville—

John Shannon came to town Wednesday for the first time in several weeks, having been confined to his bed and home for most of this time. Said he had some corn to husk yet but thought he'd be letting someone else attend to that.

TOWNSENDITES TO MEET

A meeting has been arranged by Mrs. William Alber, of Columbus, formerly of Circleville, to be held next Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the Modern Woodman hall for organization of a Pickaway county Townsend club. Mrs. Alber said that state representatives of the organization will appear on the speaking program.

SUIT TO SELL COUNTY PROPERTY PUT ON FILE

Suit to marshal liens and sell real estate was filed in Common Pleas court, Wednesday, by Charles W. Schleich, of near Williamsport, against Lemuel A. Dewey and Florence M. Dewey, Kinderhook, W. C. Morris, Circleville, and Metta M. Hinkle, resident of Tennessee.

The petition explains that on June 30, 1938, the plaintiff recovered a judgment for $273.45 in the Deercreek township justice of peace court against Lura, R. P. and Earl Schotts, formerly of Deercreek township, now of Akron. This judgment, the action says, is unpaid. The suit says that on Sept. 2, 1938 the plaintiff filed a certificate of judgment with the clerk of courts and the judgment became a lien on 2.43 acres of real estate in Deercreek township. It says the defendants claim some right in the premises and asks that the liens be marshalled and the real estate sold.

FIREMEN ASK RESIDENTS TO INSPECT YULE GIFTS

Firemen extended an invitation to residents, Thursday, to visit the department and see the toys repaired for poor children for Christmas.

A TOOTHBRUSH FOR YOUR NOSE!

You brush your teeth every morning and evening, don't you? You do this to keep your mouth fresh and keep your teeth clean and free from decay.

Sinus pains are just as painful as the toothache, but you can't have a sinus cavity extracted.

We don't suggest that you brush your nose with a toothbrush, but we do urge you to keep your nose clear and free from congestion.

If you have sinus trouble, PERANOL alone will not correct the condition. Your doctor is the one to consult. Wouldn't you rather we tell you the truth than make a lot of cure-all claims that cannot be substantiated?

PERANOL will relieve discomfort from congestion of accessible membranes of the nasal passages.

Of course, PERANOL does cost a few pennies more than ordinary nose drops, etc. But every package of PERANOL contains many months' supply and a $1.00 indestructible, non-leaking nebulizer that offers an entirely new principle of applying medication to the entrances of the sinuses. Satisfaction guaranteed or your druggist will refund your money without question.

TAX MUST BE COLLECTED ON CANDY, HOLIDAY CARDS

William Helege, official of the Ohio Tax Commission in Pickaway county, received the following notice this week for transmission to all who sell candy:

"By the Tax Commission's order and on advice of the attorney general's office, you are advised that vendors are to continue the collection of sales tax on candy."

Another ruling declared that anyone selling Christmas cards or ornaments is required to have a vendor's license and collect the proper amount of tax on every sale and cancel the proper amount of stamps.

WORD IS RECEIVED OF CHAS. VAWTERS DEATH

Word has been received in Circleville of the death last week in Akron of Charles W. Vawters, 68, a contractor and teamster for 35 years. His death, caused by heart disease, was sudden, Mr. Vawters being stricken at the home of a friend in the Kenmore district.

He is survived by two brothers, Albert of Columbus and Thomas of Lima; three sisters, Minnie and Jennie Vawters of near Kingston and Mrs. Lucy Crissinger of Columbus. His wife died three years ago.

The funeral was conducted last Saturday. Attending the funeral were Albert Vawters and son Franklin, Mrs. Crissinger and son, Reginald, of Columbus, and Miss Minnie Vawters of near Kingston.

ASHVILLE BOARD TO OPEN BIDS ON SCHOOL JOB

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

A member of the school board told us that at their meeting just held, they paid all bills and fixed the time for the holiday vacation. School will be dismissed Friday evening, December 23 and remain so until January 2, 1939—Monday. In so far as this member knows, no bids have been received for the construction of the 2-room addition for which plans have been drawn. But it is a bet worth doubling that there will be more than one at the contract letting tomorrow, Feb. 16.

Ashville

Work must begin on construction before Jan. 1, or the federal grant of near $5000 can not be used. But the Supreme Court bench, 50 strong, headed by the judge himself, has volunteered its services in seeing to it that that first dirt will be flying aplenty before the deadline date.

Ashville

And while on school building, school board clerk of Madison township, Frank Dum, told us that their new school addition structure is "coming along fine, all under roof, closed in, and in a few weeks more will be ready for occupancy, and the first entertainment in the new auditorium." We are, and have a good right to be proud of what we have done for our school," he continued.

Ashville

One of the hybrid seed corn boys, Lerton Pinto, out at the Roger Hedges plant, asked us if we had any idea just how fast a corn grain multiplied and proved to us with an ear of corn, which contains on an average of 1000 grains, that a single grain of corn in a couple of years will produce enough to cover the entire corn belt of the country. And this is the whole truth — figure it out for yourself.

Ashville

Another Ashville bunch, other than the surgeons we told about a few days ago, is over at Canton running most of the place. Orville Weiser, charge of banks, at least charge of part of one; Clarence Kern, hotel manager; Vernon Fridley, life insurance agency; the Fuff sisters in the schools; and the best part of New York City inhabitants are local people—Bill Lane and Emerson Squire we have in mind. There are several million more there but they don't count for much.

Ashville

Christmas Sunday school programs as announced by the three local schools. Lutheran exercises and those of the Brethren will be held on Sunday, Christmas evening. And the Methodist school on Sunday morning, the 18th. The Church of Christ in Christian Union school has not yet announced the date of its exercises.

Ashville

John Shannon came to town Wednesday for the first time in several weeks, having been confined to his bed and home for most of this time. Said he had some corn to husk yet but thought he'd be letting someone else attend to that.

TOWNSENDITES TO MEET

A meeting has been arranged by Mrs. William Alber, of Columbus, formerly of Circleville, to be held next Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the Modern Woodman hall for organization of a Pickaway county Townsend club. Mrs. Alber said that state representatives of the organization will appear on the speaking program.

SUIT TO SELL COUNTY PROPERTY PUT ON FILE

Suit to marshal liens and sell real estate was filed in Common Pleas court, Wednesday, by Charles W. Schleich, of near Williamsport, against Lemuel A. Dewey and Florence M. Dewey, Kinderhook, W. C. Morris, Circleville, and Metta M. Hinkle, resident of Tennessee.

The petition explains that on June 30, 1938, the plaintiff recovered a judgment for $273.45 in the Deercreek township justice of peace court against Lura, R. P. and Earl Schotts, formerly of Deercreek township, now of Akron. This judgment, the action says, is unpaid. The suit says that on Sept. 2, 1938 the plaintiff filed a certificate of judgment with the clerk of courts and the judgment became a lien on 2.43 acres of real estate in Deercreek township. It says the defendants claim some right in the premises and asks that the liens be marshalled and the real estate sold.

FIREMEN ASK RESIDENTS TO INSPECT YULE GIFTS

Firemen extended an invitation to residents, Thursday, to visit the department and see the toys repaired for poor children for Christmas.

A TOOTHBRUSH FOR YOUR NOSE!

You brush your teeth every morning and evening, don't you? You do this to keep your mouth fresh and keep your teeth clean and free from decay.

Sinus pains are just as painful as the toothache, but you can't have a sinus cavity extracted.

We don't suggest that you brush your nose with a toothbrush, but we do urge you to keep your nose clear and free from congestion.

If you have sinus trouble, PERANOL alone will not correct the condition. Your doctor is the one to consult. Wouldn't you rather we tell you the truth than make a lot of cure-all claims that cannot be substantiated?

PERANOL will relieve discomfort from congestion of accessible membranes of the nasal passages.

Of course, PERANOL does cost a few pennies more than ordinary nose drops, etc. But every package of PERANOL contains many months' supply and a $1.00 indestructible, non-leaking nebulizer that offers an entirely new principle of applying medication to the entrances of the sinuses. Satisfaction guaranteed or your druggist will refund your money without question.

TAX MUST BE COLLECTED ON CANDY, HOLIDAY CARDS

William Helege, official of the Ohio Tax Commission in Pickaway county, received the following notice this week for transmission to all who sell candy:

"By the Tax Commission's order and on advice of the attorney general's office, you are advised that vendors are to continue the collection of sales tax on candy."

Another ruling declared that anyone selling Christmas cards or ornaments is required to have a vendor's license and collect the proper amount of tax on every sale and cancel the proper amount of stamps.

WORD IS RECEIVED OF CHAS. VAWTERS DEATH

Word has been received in Circleville of the death last week in Akron of Charles W. Vawters, 68, a contractor and teamster for 35 years. His death, caused by heart disease, was sudden, Mr. Vawters being stricken at the home of a friend in the Kenmore district.

He is survived by two brothers, Albert of Columbus and Thomas of Lima; three sisters, Minnie and Jennie Vawters of near Kingston and Mrs. Lucy Crissinger of Columbus. His wife died three years ago.

The funeral was conducted last Saturday. Attending the funeral were Albert Vawters and son Franklin, Mrs. Crissinger and son, Reginald, of Columbus, and Miss Minnie Vawters of near Kingston.

MARKET PRICES STEADY, HIGHER AT WEEK'S SALE

Cattle Bids Stronger With Hogs Dropping Off Slightly

Cattle prices were steady to slightly higher and hogs a little lower on the Circleville livestock auction, Wednesday, in comparison with quotations from last week's sale.

No choice cattle were run through the sale. Good steers and heifers sold from $8.50 to $9.20; Medium to good brought from $7 to $8. Officials said the market, according to grades, ranged from 25 to 40 cents higher.

Good to choice hogs sold from $7.50 to $7.55. Last week's top was $7.60. Receipts this week amounted to 660 as compared with 490 last week.

—New Holland—

Mrs. Jennie Grabill of Darbyville visited with friends in this community over the week-end.

—New Holland—

Mrs. Sarah Yarbough of Georgia arrived Saturday for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. Georgianna Clifton, who is seriously ill.

—New Holland—

Miss Martha French was the week-end guest of Miss Marjorie Schwartz of Bloomingburg.

—New Holland—

Mr. and Mrs. John Klappert and son John Louis of Cincinnati spent the week-end with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Louis and sons Josef and John. Additional guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Leach and Mrs. Luella Chapman of Washington.

—New Holland—

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The Christmas meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Lulu Kirkpatrick.

The meeting was opened by the group singing the old Christmas Hymn "Joy To The World". Mrs. Ida Gooley then led the union in prayer. The scripture reading was read by the hostess. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Mattie Crawford gave the Treasurer's report. It was voted upon to buy handbooks and programs for the coming year. They also decided to dispense with the July meeting as it is the busy month. For their February meeting they will invite several guests and hold a Silver Tea at the church.

Miss Fannie McCafferty was the program leader for this month. The program on "Peace" was as follows:

A discussion on the article "Munich Peace Pact" in the "Saturday Evening Post" was conducted by Mrs. Lulu Kirkpatrick.

Piano duet, Mrs. Mabel Louis and Mrs. Mabel Dick; "Free Hand in Foreign Affairs Is the Power to Decide Between Peace and War" leaflet by Mrs. Francis Shipley; Poem "Child's Faith", Mrs. Mabel Louis; "Breaking Into Print or The Cause and Cure of War", Mrs. Mattie Crawford; Mrs. Costlow rendered the beautiful Christmas song "Music In the Air".

The meeting was closed by Mrs. Lulu Kirkpatrick, reading part of the Gospel of St. Luke.

Delicious refreshments were served to 15 members by the hostess.

The exchange of small gifts was greatly enjoyed during the social hour.

—New Holland—

Richard Washburn, Robert Satchell, Martha French, Harriette Hays, Wanda Arnold and Dorothy Wright attended the Senior 4-H meeting at Ashville Monday night. Misses French, Hays, Arnold and Wright were presented with certificates and Pumpkin Show awards for their 4-H clothing project. Misses Joan Griffith and Martha Ellen Brown were not present so their premiums were sent to them.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. Blanche Arnold was a charming hostess to a group of friends at a six o'clock dinner party in honor of the birthday of her daughter Helen. The honored one was pleasantly surprised and received many lovely gifts.

Those seated at the table with the honored guest were Misses Louise Stoker, Rosalind Briggs, Marvene Arnold, Ann Persinger and Mrs. Mildred Cook. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Marie Briggs and Mrs. Mary Lewis.

The group motored to Washington and enjoyed the remainder of the evening at the skating rink.

International Baby

A DIFFICULT problem was offered Judge Harry Fisher in Chicago when Brunhilde Schneeman (above), 18 months old, appeared before him. The baby's father is a naturalized citizen, but she was in the custody of her mother's parents in Germany. The mother's a German citizen, who once lived in the United States, but is now having trouble arranging to return to America from Germany.

Specialist's Will Raps Doctors, Patients Alike

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 15—(UP)—The will of Dr. Arthur J. McLean, brain specialist, filed for probate today bequeathed:

"To 95 percent of Portland's medical practitioners and their ethics, and the whole local organized medical profession, a lusty, rousing belch.

"To Portland's thieving patients, the haphazard care they will receive for their chiseling tawdriness.

"To my name, oblivion. I specifically forbid its use or association in any prospective fund, memorial, scholarship or trust of any nature. I desire that Dr. Warren Hunter perform the necropsy; that there be no funeral service of any sort; that the 11th stanza of Swinburne's 'Garden of Proserpine' and the entire 'Thanatopsis' of Bryant be read aloud over my body by a lay person; that my cremated body's ashes be strewn by a paid employe on the waters of the straits of San Juan De Fuca."

Estate to Widow

McLean died Dec. 7 in an automobile accident. His will was undated. The estate, exceeding $100,000, went to his widow. His library was given to the University of Oregon medical school.

The 11th stanza of Swinburne's "Garden of Proserpine," is as follows:

"From too much love of living.
From hope and fear set free,
We thank with brief Thanksgiving
Whatever Gods may be
That no life lives forever;
That dead men rise up never;
That even the weariest river
Winds somewhere safe to sea."

William Cullen Bryant's Thanatopsis, as its title states, in a meditation on death. A quotation:

"By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave,
Like one that wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Fellow surgeons regarded McLean as the most brilliant neuro surgeon in the Northwest and said his reputation was nationwide. He was 44, permaturely aged, and considered eccentric by some.

He lived in an exclusive residential district but dressed plainly, drove an old car, and carried his instruments in an old leather brief case. He was known for his ability to get along on little sleep, and during one series of operations did not close his eyes for two days. Apparently he knew how the public regarded him.

He left a note:

"To any person who attempts to break this will, the sum of one dollar."

DARBYVILLE

Mrs. Jane Heeter of the Children's Home in Pickaway county was the guest over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Neff and family.

—Darbyville—

Mrs. Eldon Fullen, daughter of C. T. Neff of Darbyville, residing near Kinderhook, met with an accident last week while doing her laundry work. She caught her hand in the wringer and before she could release the wringer it had pulled her arm through almost to her shoulder. On examination it was found that no bones were broken but her arm is badly bruised and sore.

—Darbyville—

Miss Rita Pollock, a student at Office Business Training in Columbus, was week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dick and Misses Suzanne and Harriette Hays.

—New Holland—

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Collins had for Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Collins of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Turney Tatman of Hillsboro.

—Darbyville—

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hammack were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Poling in Lancaster.

—Darbyville—

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Miller spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eicher and family in Columbus.

—Darbyville—

Mrs. Lillian Hott is visiting with her daughter Mrs. Paul Clark who recently moved to Columbus.

—Darbyville—

"IT'S LIKE HAVING NEW PAIR OF ARMS," THIS LADY DECLARES

MRS. LUCILLE BARBER

"Following a long case of constipation, my suffering really began in earnest," says Mrs. Lucille Barber, Housewife living on N. Park St., Columbus. "I lost my appetite and began to feel weak and wornout, my nerves became shaky and this kept me from getting restful sleep. Worst of all though was the aching misery in both arms and it was agony at times to use them. My back ached so badly I couldn't bend over except with great suffering.

"Vendol was highly praised by people all around here so I got some, also a box of Vendol laxative tablets and this proved to be just the treatment I needed.

"It acted wonderfully on my bowels, giving free, complete, satisfactory results and also acted as a diuretic to my kidneys. Then, it seemed my troubles just got better day by day and now it's almost like I have a new pair of arms, no aches or pains, my sleep rests me, and in every way Vendol has been a big help."

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The Christmas meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Lulu Kirkpatrick.

The meeting was opened by the group singing the old Christmas Hymn "Joy To The World". Mrs. Ida Cooley then led the union in prayer. The scripture reading was read by the hostess. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Mattie Crawford gave the Treasurer's report. It was voted upon to buy handbooks and programs for the coming year. They also decided to dispense with the July meeting as it is the busy month. For their February meeting they will invite several guests and hold a Silver Tea at the church.

Miss Fannie McCafferty was the program leader for this month. The program on "Peace" was as follows:

A discussion on the article "Munich Peace Pact" in the "Saturday Evening Post" was conducted by Mrs. Lulu Kirkpatrick.

Piano duet, Mrs. Mabel Louis and Mrs. Mabel Dick; "Free Hand in Foreign Affairs Is the Power to Decide Between Peace and War" leaflet by Mrs. Francis Shipley; Poem "Child's Faith", Mrs. Mabel Louis; "Breaking Into Print or The Cause and Cure of War", Mrs. Mattie Crawford; Mrs. Costlow rendered the beautiful Christmas song "Music In the Air".

The meeting was closed by Mrs. Lulu Kirkpatrick, reading part of the Gospel of St. Luke.

Delicious refreshments were served to 15 members by the hostess.

The exchange of small gifts was greatly enjoyed during the social hour.

Specialist's Will Raps Doctors, Patients Alike

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 15—(UP)—The will of Dr. Arthur J. McLean, brain specialist, filed for probate today bequeathed:

"To 95 percent of Portland's medical practitioners and their ethics, and the whole local organized medical profession, a lusty, rousing belch.

"To Portland's thieving patients, the haphazard care they will receive for their chiseling tawdriness.

"To my name, oblivion. I specifically forbid its use or association in any prospective fund, memorial, scholarship or trust of any nature. I desire that Dr. Warren Hunter perform the necropsy; that there be no funeral service of any sort; that the 11th stanza of Swinburne's 'Garden of Proserpine' and the entire 'Thanatopsis' of Bryant be read aloud over my body by a lay person; that my cremated body's ashes be strewn by a paid employe on the waters of the straits of San Juan De Fuca."

Estate to Widow

McLean died Dec. 7 in an automobile accident. His will was undated. The estate, exceeding $100,000, went to his widow. His library was given to the University of Oregon medical school.

The 11th stanza of Swinburne's "Garden of Proserpine," is as follows:

"From too much love of living.
From hope and fear set free,
We thank with brief Thanksgiving
Whatever Gods may be
That no life lives forever;
That dead men rise up never;
That even the weariest river
Winds somewhere safe to sea."

William Cullen Bryant's Thanatopsis, as its title states, in a meditation on death. A quotation:

"By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave,
Like one that wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Fellow surgeons regarded McLean as the most brilliant neuro surgeon in the Northwest and said his reputation was nationwide. He was 44, permaturely aged, and considered eccentric by some.

He lived in an exclusive residential district but dressed plainly, drove an old car, and carried his instruments in an old leather brief case. He was known for his ability to get along on little sleep, and during one series of operations did not close his eyes for two days. Apparently he knew how the public regarded him.

He left a note:

TENANT LOANS TO BUY FARMS GIVEN TO 1,885

F. S. A. Reports On First Year Operation Of Financing Act

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(UP)—The Farm Security Administration has disclosed that 1,885 farm tenants, sharecroppers and laborers took advantage of the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act during the 1938 fiscal year to purchase farms averaging 130 acres each.

The average loan to finance the purchase was $4,890, with $4,077 representing the actual cost of the farm.

Congress appropriating $10,000,000 for the first year of the act's operation, which ended last June 30. It authorized $25,000,000 for the current fiscal year. FSA officials estimate that this sum will finance purchase of 5,000 additional farms.

The Bankhead-Jones Act was designed to enable farm tenants, sharecroppers and agricultural laborers to buy farms of sufficient size and quality to provide an adequate living for themselves and their families. It followed disclosure by the 1935 agricultural census that more than two out of every five farmers in the United States are tenants and that tenancy was growing rapidly and farm ownership by individuals declining.

Vast Migration Cited

After the tenantry report was submitted, a committee of farm leaders appointed by President Roosevelt found that migration of tenants, estimated in the previous report at 1,000,000 a year, resulted in unsound farming practices and rapid depletion of the soil.

Under the Bankhead-Jones Act, borrowers are allowed 40 years to repay loans at 3 percent interest, a financing arrangement which results in the farmer-lender frequently paying less for his farm on a payment basis than he would spend in rent.

The FSA reported that costs of farms purchased under the act varied widely between different regions. The average farm in California, for instance, was 38 acres, and in North Dakota, where larger farms are economic necessities, the median size was 528 acres. The California farm, however, cost an average of $7,626, compared $5,558 for a farm in North Dakota.

Florida had the lowest average cost, $2,234, except for a few scattered farms in New England. Illinois farms were the highest-priced, commanding $8,744 for an average sized (140-acre) farm.

Loans by States

The following table shows the number of loans approved, average cost of farms purchased and average number of acres in such farms, for states in which 20 or more loans were approved:

WOMAN DIRECTS FOREIGN SALES

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15—(UP)—Miss Blanche G. Schwartz serves the world as the country's only known combination export manager.

A combination export manager handles exports for a number of companies. Miss Schwartz represents local companies and also one each in New York, Detroit and Louisville.

"To be a success in export work a person always must remember that other cultures are not necessarily inferior to ours, just because they are different," she said.

"Without a broad tolerance we cannot have happy deals."

She said that an undue assurrance of American superiority prevents success in her field of work.

Miss Schwartz was the first woman in Cleveland to enter the export business. She opened her own office in 1924. She also teaches a class in foreign trade at Fenn College.

Buyers Changing Firms

"The effect of the present unsettled international situation on exports? In many ways it is a handicap, but it also is causing a large number of buyers to look from a troubled area to an assured source of supply—which can be found here," Miss Schwartz said.

"Some buyers are offering to pay more for goods to replace Japanese and German merchandise, because of their unpopularity."

She said that many Dutch East Indies firms are Chinese and so refuse to buy any Japanese goods.

The new nationalism, now prevailing in various nations, has caused new trade barriers, she added. These barriers include increased tariff quotas and currency control.

"Nowadays, before an order is sent out, the restrictions are checked and if they are too strict the order is not sent," Miss Schwartz said.

"The growing use of the airplane, however, is making possible the development of a new technique in export work. Orders are moved a lot faster than formerly, because of the plane.

"I can send an air-mail letter to my agent in Havana and have a cabled reply in 24 hours."

Orders Speeded Up

A new lightweight paper—20 sheets of which weigh a half-ounce—also facilitates orders between the United States and foreign nations.

"The export field can be profitable to manufacturers the year 'round if they remember that south of the Equator the seasons are directly the reverse of those north of the line," she said.

"The reversal of seasons means that seasonal merchandise, such as beach and garden furniture, swimming suits, sun glasses, earmuffs and ice-skates, can be marketed south of the Equator after they are out-of-season up north. Manufacturers thus can equalize the demand on their factories throughout the year."

Miss Schwartz said that her profession—instead of being overcrowded—offers many opportunities for alert women. As to future fields to be newly or further developed in the export line, she thinks that parts of the British Empire and the Netherlands' colonies are outstanding possibilities.

MACK'S FOOT-HEALTH TALKS

NO. 5. BURNING FEET

One of the common complaints of foot sufferers is that of experiencing a burning sensation in the feet. Usually the victim blames this on the leather in his shoe . . . says it wasn't properly tanned or something of the sort. Actually burning feet are often caused by deep seated conditions and may be a warning of systemic disease. However, in most cases, this burning is a sign that something is wrong with the shoes you wear or with the feet themselves. So when people whose feet are otherwise healthy experience this burning, the cause must be found. We find that anyone who is highly nervous may suffer from burning along the soles of the feet, and that while this may be temporarily relieved by foot baths, a permanent correction requires the attention of your physician who must treat the underlying cause. Circulatory disturbances and diabetic conditions are further causes of burning. In fact any disease or condition that has a marked affect on the circulation has a tendency to produce burning. Local conditions that bring it about are callouses on the bottom of the feet, mis-fitted shoes or stockings, or shoes with extremely heavy or very light soles. Any derangement of the bones of the feet which causes an impingement of nerves and blood vessels may produce a severe burning sensation. Excessive dryness of the skin or an unusual amount of moisture can produce the same result. Hot summer days do their share, while cheap shoes and poorly tanned leathers play their part in making feet burn. Tight shoes must not be overlooked, while heavy leathers, especially in warm weather, hold the heated moisture within the shoe, so that the accumulated acids of perspiration produces burning. If your feet burn consult your doctor and as a general preventative measure use a regular foot bath followed by a brisk massage, using olive oil or foot balm. Wear shoes big enough to permit a good circulation of blood and change them twice a day. Buy soft shoes with light kid-skin uppers. Keep your feet comfortable.

TENANT LOANS TO BUY FARMS GIVEN TO 1,885

F. S. A. Reports On First Year Operation Of Financing Act

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(UP)—The Farm Security Administration has disclosed that 1,885 farm tenants, sharecroppers and laborers took advantage of the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act during the 1938 fiscal year to purchase farms averaging 130 acres each.

The average loan to finance the purchase was $4,890, with $4,077 representing the actual cost of the farm.

Congress appropriating $10,000,000 for the first year of the act's operation, which ended last June 30. It authorized $25,000,000 for the current fiscal year. FSA officials estimate that this sum will finance purchase of 5,000 additional farms.

The Bankhead-Jones Act was designed to enable farm tenants, sharecroppers and agricultural laborers to buy farms of sufficient size and quality to provide an adequate living for themselves and their families. It followed disclosure by the 1935 agricultural census that more than two out of every five farmers in the United States are tenants and that tenancy was growing rapidly and farm ownership by individuals declining.

Vast Migration Cited

After the tenantry report was submitted, a committee of farm leaders appointed by President Roosevelt found that migration of tenants, estimated in the previous report at 1,000,000 a year, resulted in unsound farming practices and rapid depletion of the soil.

Under the Bankhead-Jones Act, borrowers are allowed 40 years to repay loans at 3 percent interest, a financing arrangement which results in the farmer-lender frequently paying less for his farm on a payment basis than he would spend in rent.

The FSA reported that costs of farms purchased under the act varied widely between different regions. The average farm in California, for instance, was 38 acres, and in North Dakota, where larger farms are economic necessities, the median size was 528 acres. The California farm, however, cost an average of $7,626, compared $5,558 for a farm in North Dakota.

Florida had the lowest average cost, $2,234, except for a few scattered farms in New England. Illinois farms were the highest-priced, commanding $8,744 for an average sized (140-acre) farm.

Loans by States

The following table shows the number of loans approved, average cost of farms purchased and average number of acres in such farms, for states in which 20 or more loans were approved:

WOMAN DIRECTS FOREIGN SALES

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15—(UP)—Miss Blanche G. Schwartz serves the world as the country's only known combination export manager.

A combination export manager handles exports for a number of companies. Miss Schwartz represents local companies and also one each in New York, Detroit and Louisville.

"To be a success in export work a person always must remember that other cultures are not necessarily inferior to ours, just because they are different," she said.

"Without a broad tolerance we cannot have happy deals."

She said that an undue assurrance of American superiority prevents success in her field of work.

Miss Schwartz was the first woman in Cleveland to enter the export business. She opened her own office in 1924. She also teaches a class in foreign trade at Fenn College.

Buyers Changing Firms

"The effect of the present unsettled international situation on exports? In many ways it is a handicap, but it also is causing a large number of buyers to look from a troubled area to an assured source of supply—which can be found here," Miss Schwartz said.

"Some buyers are offering to pay more for goods to replace Japanese and German merchandise, because of their unpopularity."

She said that many Dutch East Indies firms are Chinese and so refuse to buy any Japanese goods.

The new nationalism, now prevailing in various nations, has caused new trade barriers, she added. These barriers include increased tariff quotas and currency control.

"Nowadays, before an order is sent out, the restrictions are checked and if they are too strict the order is not sent," Miss Schwartz said.

"The growing use of the airplane, however, is making possible the development of a new technique in export work. Orders are moved a lot faster than formerly, because of the plane.

"I can send an air-mail letter to my agent in Havana and have a cabled reply in 24 hours."

Orders Speeded Up

A new lightweight paper—20 sheets of which weigh a half-ounce—also facilitates orders between the United States and foreign nations.

"The export field can be profitable to manufacturers the year 'round if they remember that south of the Equator the seasons are directly the reverse of those north of the line," she said.

"The reversal of seasons means that seasonal merchandise, such as beach and garden furniture, swimming suits, sun glasses, earmuffs and ice-skates, can be marketed south of the Equator after they are out-of-season up north. Manufacturers thus can equalize the demand on their factories throughout the year."

Miss Schwartz said that her profession—instead of being overcrowded—offers many opportunities for alert women. As to future fields to be newly or further developed in the export line, she thinks that parts of the British Empire and the Netherlands' colonies are outstanding possibilities.

NO. 5. BURNING FEET

One of the common complaints of foot sufferers is that of experiencing a burning sensation in the feet. NAZI PRESSURE ABROAD

ONE method by which the German government seeks to spread its influence in foreign lands is revealed by a recent protest of Swedish foreign minister Richard Sandler. He accuses Germany of attempting to extend its anti-Jewish campaign into Sweden, and explains how it is done.

"Swedish concerns doing business with Germany," he says, "have been informed that it is not proper for them to have 'non-Aryan' staffs. German subsidiaries of Swedish concerns have been asked to furnish information on their staffs and 'Aryan' capital, not only the German part of the concern but also of the parent company, registered in Sweden."

It is a neat trick, if you can pull it off. No doubt similar pressure is exerted in other parts of the world, including Latin-America. Complete public exposure ought to be a telling weapon against it.

FRENCH SLANT ON FOOTBALL

IT IS ALWAYS interesting to get the other fellow's viewpoint. Take football, for instance, as played in America. We have our notion of it, derived from long and intimate observation. We find it a great sport and also a great spectacle, and a natural outgrowth of organized athletics. A bit rough, perhaps, but fair, and a wonderful sport.

Naturally the French, who are not an athletic or sporting people, and who indeed have no word of their own for "sport", see it differently. The gulf between us appears in French accounts of a recent football game, played by American teams, before a crowd of 20,000 people in Paris.

The game was reported in the French papers as "a combination of rugby, soccer, wrestling and bullfighting" and its general effect "very much like a collision between an automobile and a buss." The "huddle" between plays, for counsel and signals, fascinated and intrigued the observers. "It is apparent," wrote the mystified reporters, "that they gather to cheer, in the spirit of true sportsmanship, before every play."

But the play itself seemed distressingly rough and crude. To those 20,000 onlookers, the players "knelt down and seemed to be trying to frighten each other with grimaces." Then "they rushed headlong at each other, arms flying. Fantastic things took place. Legs and arms got mixed so that the field looked like a battle-ground after the charge." Whenever the two lines charged each other, they left the "field strewn with wounded players."

Oh well! We might talk of French dueling, but why bring that up? Maybe we don't understand it any more than they understand our football.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

NEXT CHAPLIN COMEDY

HOLLYWOOD—Charlie Chaplin has decided that the only way to kill dictatorships is through ridicule. Accordingly, he is going back to the screen to produce a photographic satire of Hitler and Mussolini.

If the film comes up to all that Hollywood hears about it, these two gentlemen will be sputtering all over two continents. They will see themselves impersonated by the veteran comedians Weber and Fields, who open the picture as deadly enemies, finally pool forces in rare slapstick comedy.

The upraised hand of the Fascist salute, token of tribute to dictators, in this movie will mean exactly what the schoolboy wants it to mean when he raises his hand to leave the room.

"This film," says Charlie Chaplin, "is the only thing sufficient to shake off my lethargy and make me go to work again."

FOREIGN CENSORSHIP

Chief speculation in Hollywood is whether Neville Chamberlain will permit Chaplin's dictator film to be shown in Great Britain. Charlie thinks not.

"Chamberlain is too friendly with Hitler," he says. "I am counting the British market completely out, also the French."

This illustrates how the dictators of Europe exercise an indirect but very real censorship over Hollywood as a matter of everyday routine.

It is a box-office censorship. England and the Dominions today comprise 35 percent of the film market. They often spell the difference between profit and loss. If Mussolini or Hitler, through pressure upon the British government, suppresses a film, that film loses money.

Charlie Chaplin, wealthy, independent, sincere crusader for democracy, is willing to take the loss. The big film companies are not.

It was through pressure by another government that the Turks were able to prevent the filming of that best-selling novel, "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh." It was not the protest of the Turkish Government which counted, for few films are sold there. It was the protest of the French. The Turks persuaded their close friends, the French, to threaten the suppression of all other films produced by that company. The company surrendered.

NOTE—Particularly interesting will be to see whether "The Forty Days if Musa Dagh" is released now that Mustapha Kemal, dictator of Turkey and central figure in the book, is dead.

"IT DIDN'T HAPPEN"

Sinclair Lewis' "It Can't Happen Here" was suppressed by the German government, working through German businessmen, who in turn worked through New York banks. Hollywood always is partially in hock to the banks, so "It Can't Happen here" never happened.

Germany also has exercised censorship through tying up the assets of U. S. film companies in Germany.

So Hitler has signed a pact of everlasting friendship with France. And now how long will it be till he wants another slice of French territory?

REVERSING THE FIELD

DIET AND HEALTH

Hand Susceptible To Pus Infection

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF the most beautiful books that was ever printed is Sir Charles Bell's book on "The Hand". Printed by J. and J. Churchill in London over a hundred years ago, it is, in its way, the acme of the printer's art; the print, the paper, the steel engravings are all arranged with perfect taste.

Nor are the contents any less fascinating than the format. Not until my friend, Dr. Allen Kanavel, of Chicago, published his work on the same subject ten years ago has there been a study of the hand which superseded it.

It is a moot point whether man's hand or his brain is the organ which lifted him from the lower creatures. In most individuals of my acquaintance, the hand is the more wonderful instrument. Certainly one of the most sensitive organs of the body, it has a mechanism of such range that it can both "forge the anchor and spin the gossamer" of daily needs.

Anatomy of Hand

The anatomy of the hand is so arranged that the muscles which control its movements lie in the lower arm. They are attached to the bones of the hand by long tendons and these tendons pass down over the wrist and across the palm through sheaves of fascia, as if cables were wrapped in a kind of elastic oily covering which prevents them from rubbing on each other.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

This constitutes both the strength and weakness of the hand. For the hand, perhaps more than any other part of the body, is subject to pus infection. That is perfectly natural. It is forever reaching out to grasp something, and that something may be sharp and cut through the skin and fascia and leave a pus germ—a staphylococcus or a streptococcus—in the deep fascial spaces where the tendons run. And then the tendons move back and forth and spread the infection up the arm.

It is the condition called "blood poisoning", and is marked by those fine red lines that go up the arm and show under the skin. Always serious, the surgeon's first thought is to put the hand and the tendons to rest and apply large, moist compresses. If these do not stop the spread of the contagion, incisions must be made. Such a case should always be put in the hands of a surgeon, but recognition of its nature can be made from the description given above.

Another Condition

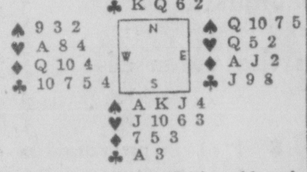

Another condition of a chronic nature in which the fasciae of the hand are involved is the condition known as "Dupuytren's contracture". You may have noticed some of your friends, especially men, who have a little finger, or perhaps two or three fingers, curled up towards the inside of the palm. No one knows the exact cause, but it appears to occur when the end of some instrument is habitually rubbed against the palm of the hand. I have known a case in a golfer, and one in a gentleman farmer who spends most of his day with a rake or a hoe in his hands.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

DON'T BE PIG-HEADED

PIG-HEADEDNESS PROBABLY shows itself more in the defense against no trump contracts than in any other phase of bridge. Many a pair, once having led a certain long suit, can not make themselves switch their tactics until the suit is all gone. Careful observation of developments can reveal, every once in a while, the advisability of a shift when it has become apparent that the original plan probably will not work.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable)

After an opening spade bid on this deal by South, North went to 2-Clubs, South to 2-No Trump and North to 3-No Trump.

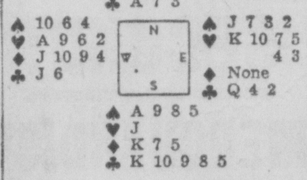

West started the defense by leading the club 4, which South won with the A. He then attempted to set up his hearts by leading the 3 to the 9. East took this trick with his Q and returned a club to North's Q. Declarer then played the heart K to West's A.

West then made the mistake of continuing his clubs and the declarer had no difficulty in making his game with three spades, three clubs, two hearts and one diamond.

A switch by West to a diamond at the fifth trick would have meant defeat for declarer. The opening bid had been a spade, so that suit was protected; declarer tried to set up hearts and the clubs were safely taken care of, so that the only hope for West was the lead of the diamond Q or 10.

PAGES from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Awake at the usual time, but lay long abed before mustering enough courage to get up and close the window. Once Dr. Frederick Cook told me about Polar ice cracking and letting him drop into the sea and also of how he and his companions on his dashes to the pole took turn in getting out first of a morning and putting the tea to boil over an alcohol lamp. Two men slept in fur-lined sleeping bags. One had to get out in temperatures that ranged down to 70 below zero. Putting on that tea took only a few minutes, but one got mighty cold during that time. Then the tea maker returned to the sleeping bag until the tea boiled. By getting up he had gained a great privilege. It was to put his freezing feet against the warm stomach of his companion. Yes, those must have been trying experiences, but I doubt that the Doctor or his companions ever got colder than I do on the brief dash from my bed to the bedroom window.

At the plant did find a printer waiting for me, a man looking for a job. There a competent workman with many years of experience, a wife and a working daughter who would be married. But the printer can not find a job and release his daughter. "What's wrong with everything?" he asked. "I am a trained man actually begging for a job and can not find it." I could not tell him and I could not give him a job. Talking to a man who really is willing to work and who can not find employment is really a saddening experience.

"SEE? SEE what I mean? See that devil look on her face? Look at her now!"

Worthington Gurley was speaking in an excited stage whisper to Dr. Holgate, and pointing to Peaches Pomeroy.

"She planted that bracelet, Dr. Holgate. Just like I told you. We ought to have turned her in."

"You may be right, Gurley. But—to look at her now, I think the uncertainty and fear of her position is greater punishment."

Never, surely, had misery and fear shown more in anybody's expression. Peaches looked ghastly. Not even her expert makeup could conceal the character of her now. Dr. Holgate shuddered. "Thank God!" he muttered—really a prayer of gratitude that he had come to his senses, he who had imagined himself in love with her.

"I want to find Sara Sue Davis," he announced emphatically "If it is not too late."

"Oh, she's still here," said Worthington. "It's not midnight. Anyhow her coat—"

But Dr. Holgate hadn't meant that. His "too late" was his own secret matter. For Gurley had told him that Bob Towne would marry Sara Sue!

Thornton Holgate was one of those somewhat rare individuals who store abundant energy, but keep it under control until they themselves will to release it. Such a characteristic is associated with a contemplative, analytical mind, a thinker. Usually they are comparatively sedentary in outward appearances, but can become physically dynamic when occasion demands, dynamic with action!

Thornton had proved this when emergency arose at Galveston beach. Nobody would have suspected that a scholarly instructor in mathematics could be an expert swimmer with stamina enough to save two lives. And again at the Sylvan beach dance hall—he certainly flattened a burly sailor with his fist, just because such a course had been presented to him as reasonable and right.

Unconsciously, hand in hand, they bumped into dancers and walked all about the great ballroom. They asked people for Sara Sue.

"She was here a while ago," someone answered. "Don Romero was wooing her."

"I saw Bob Towne cut in on her," said another. "Look for him."

"Isn't she with T. J. Sanders?"

"Try the women's lounge."

Everybody had suggestions, but no definite help. Sara Sue had vanished.

"A whole gang of people went downstairs, to get some air, they said," somebody told them. "She might be with them. They'll be back soon, I imagine."

Thornton and young Gurley hastened down to the street. They saw no one on the sidewalks, no one they knew.

"Maybe they walked over to Main," the lad suggested. "Come on."

Downtown Houston was full of people even at this late hour, so that the college crowd was not readily visible. But energetic Worthington stood on a fireplug and caught a flash of evening clothes in a group a block away.

"There they are!" he cried. And then, despite the surroundings—"SARA SUE!"

He yelled it loud enough to make everybody turn and stare, but no matter. He and Dr. Holgate plunged off at a run, Holgate leading him.

At once a messenger boy and two or three pedestrians started running, too.

A policeman saw them and started after. All in a flash the block became jammed with excited, running, questioning people. Dr. Holgate and Worthington were ignorant of the commotion they created. "SARA SUE!" Dr. Holgate himself yelled, almost desperately.

They caught the other collegians turning a corner.

"Whare's the fire?" somebody demanded.

"Sara Sue!" Sara Sue Davis—is she here?"

She wasn't. No, she had not come with them. They had not seen ner as they left the dance floor. They had just come for a brief walk outside. They had not seen Sara Sue. The crowd encircled them, the policeman came in. Explanation had to be gone over in detail. Thornton Holgate had to do a deal of talking—without explaining much of anything. He simply wanted Sara Sue Davis, urgently and now. He blushed in the telling. He couldn't explain that he wanted to catch her and pour out his love!

"Come on, Gurley!" he commanded, and started running back to the University club. They left people staring and a policeman standing spread-legged, shaking his head.

Back up the club stairs they came onto T. J. Sanders.

"T. J., have you seen Sara Sue Davis?" Worthington panted, excitedly.

T. J. did not answer at once. To be sure, he had just seen her. In fact, he had just five minutes ago taken his rival in love to her, given them his blessings, and taken his own heavy heart away. He knew exactly where they were. Why all this excitement about her now, he wondered.

"'Smatter? What you want with her?" he demanded of young Gurley.

Now, for the first time, Worthington faced that question.

What, in all truth, did he want with Sara Sue? Why was he plunging wildly around with Dr. Holgate looking for her? The matter of the diamond bracelet had been disposed of. Probably never to be mentioned again. Certainly there was no occasion for such speed, even if they did eventually tell Sara Sue about it. Poor Worthington was sadly confused. This evening had been too much for him. He looked at Dr. Holgate.

"Anyhow," T. J. resumed then, "she oughtn't to be interrupted. She's over yonder getting engaged. She's—"

"Engaged!" Dr. Holgate exploded that.

"Yeah. Dammit. But it's all right. If she wants him, she ought to have him. It's her place to say, not mine. Well, ho hum, such is life. Let her alone, can't you? Bob Towne's not so terrible. If she wants—"

"Oh, my Lord!" boomed Holgate, appalled.

He had determined to find her and confess his devotion at once. He had not realized it possible for her to be engaged already, tonight! Things had been moving fast for him this evening, too!

He stood there, breathing fast from his run with Gurley, his hair disheveled now, his necktie at an absurd angle. Sweat beaded his face. "Oh, my! I can't stop now, Gurley! I've simply got to find her and tell her. At once!"

Worthington still couldn't see the hurry. In fact he was coming to think the bracelet episode was best forgotten. Poor kid—he could not read Dr. Holgate's mind!

"SARA SUE!" Dr. Holgate boomed out, like a bell hop paging somebody. "SARA SUE DAVIS!" People again turned to stare.

Almost as if she had heard the summons (as indeed she may have, but subconsciously) Sara Sue herself appeared across the room. With Bob Towne walking near her. Thornton Holgate saw them at once, and he did not hesitate.

"WAIT, SARA SUE!" He yelled it, over the heads of boys and girls. The music stopped, the orchestra assuming this was another floor show surprise. "WAIT! MAKE NO COMMITMENT — UNTIL YOU HEAR ME! SARA SUE!"

He was shouting, his face flushed, intent; a tall man elbowing his way through the dancers, one hand held high and waving; utterly oblivious of those around him.

"I LOVE YOU, SARA SUE! I WANT TO PROVE IT! . . . I WANT TO MARRY YOU! . . . WAIT! I LOVE YOU! . . . IT IS I, THORNTON!" . . . I AM COMING!"

NAZI PRESSURE ABROAD

ONE method by which the German government seeks to spread its influence in foreign lands is revealed by a recent protest of Swedish foreign minister Richard Sandler. He accuses Germany of attempting to extend its anti-Jewish campaign into Sweden, and explains how it is done.

"Swedish concerns doing business with Germany," he says, "have been informed that it is not proper for them to have 'non-Aryan' staffs. German subsidiaries of Swedish concerns have been asked to furnish information on their staffs and 'Aryan' capital, not only the German part of the concern but also of the parent company, registered in Sweden."

It is a neat trick, if you can pull it off. No doubt similar pressure is exerted in other parts of the world, including Latin-America. Complete public exposure ought to be a telling weapon against it.

FRENCH SLANT ON FOOTBALL

IT IS ALWAYS interesting to get the other fellow's viewpoint. Take football, for instance, as played in America. We have our notion of it, derived from long and intimate observation. We find it a great sport and also a great spectacle, and a natural outgrowth of organized athletics. A bit rough, perhaps, but fair, and a wonderful sport.

Naturally the French, who are not an athletic or sporting people, and who indeed have no word of their own for "sport", see it differently. The gulf between us appears in French accounts of a recent football game, played by American teams, before a crowd of 20,000 people in Paris.

The game was reported in the French papers as "a combination of rugby, soccer, wrestling and bullfighting" and its general effect "very much like a collision between an automobile and a buss." The "huddle" between plays, for counsel and signals, fascinated and intrigued the observers. "It is apparent," wrote the mystified reporters, "that they gather to cheer, in the spirit of true sportsmanship, before every play."

But the play itself seemed distressingly rough and crude. To those 20,000 onlookers, the players "knelt down and seemed to be trying to frighten each other with grimaces." Then "they rushed headlong at each other, arms flying. Fantastic things took place. Legs and arms got mixed so that the field looked like a battleground after the charge." Whenever the two lines charged each other, they left the "field strewn with wounded players."

Oh well! We might talk of French dueling, but why bring that up? Maybe we don't understand it any more than they understand our football.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

NEXT CHAPLIN COMEDY

HOLLYWOOD—Charlie Chaplin has decided that the only way to kill dictatorships is through ridicule. Accordingly, he is going back to the screen to produce a photographic satire of Hitler and Mussolini.

If the film comes up to all that Hollywood hears about it, these two gentlemen will be sputtering all over two continents. They will see themselves impersonated by the veteran comedians Weber and Fields, who open the picture as deadly enemies, finally pool forces in rare slapstick comedy.

The upraised hand of the Fascist salute, token of tribute to dictators, in this movie will mean exactly what the schoolboy wants it to mean when he raises his hand to leave the room.

"This film," says Charlie Chaplin, "is the only thing sufficient to shake off my lethargy and make me go to work again."

FOREIGN CENSORSHIP

Chief speculation in Hollywood is whether Neville Chamberlain will permit Chaplin's dictator film to be shown in Great Britain. Charlie thinks not.

"Chamberlain is too friendly with Hitler," he says. "I am counting the British market completely out, also the French."

This illustrates how the dictators of Europe exercise an indirect but very real censorship over Hollywood as a matter of everyday routine.

It is a box-office censorship. England and the Dominions today comprise 35 percent of the film market. They often spell the difference between profit and loss. If Mussolini or Hitler, through pressure upon the British government, suppresses a film, that film loses money.

Charlie Chaplin, wealthy, independent, sincere crusader for democracy, is willing to take the loss. The big film companies are not.

It was through pressure by another government that the Turks were able to prevent the filming of that best-selling novel, "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh." It was not the protest of the Turkish Government which counted, for few films are sold there. It was the protest of the French. The Turks persuaded their close friends, the French, to threaten the suppression of all other films produced by that company. The company surrendered.

NOTE—Particularly interesting will be to see whether "The Forty Days if Musa Dagh" is released now that Mustapha Kemal, dictator of Turkey and central figure in the book, is dead.

"IT DIDN'T HAPPEN"

Sinclair Lewis' "It Can't Happen Here" was suppressed by the German government, working through German businessmen, who in turn worked through New York banks. Hollywood always is partially in hock to the banks, so "It Can't Happen here" never happened.

Germany also has exercised censorship through tying up the assets of U. S. film companies in Germany.

So Hitler has signed a pact of everlasting friendship with France. And now how long will it be till he wants another slice of French territory?

DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF the most beautiful books that was ever printed is Sir Charles Bell's book on "The Hand". Printed by J. and J. Churchill in London over a hundred years ago, it is, in its way, the acme of the printer's art; the print, the paper, the steel engravings are all arranged with perfect taste.

Nor are the contents any less fascinating than the format. Not until my friend, Dr. Allen Kanavel, of Chicago, published his work on the same subject ten years ago has there been a study of the hand which superseded it.

It is a moot point whether man's hand or his brain is the organ which lifted him from the lower creatures. In most individuals of my acquaintance, the hand is the more wonderful instrument. Certainly one of the most sensitive organs of the body, it has a mechanism of such range that it can both "forge the anchor and spin the gossamer" of daily needs.

Anatomy of Hand

The anatomy of the hand is so arranged that the muscles which control its movements lie in the lower arm. They are attached to the bones of the hand by long tendons and these tendons pass down over the wrist and across the palm through sheaves of fascia, as if cables were wrapped in a kind of elastic oily covering which prevents them from rubbing on each other.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

This constitutes both the strength and weakness of the hand. For the hand, perhaps more than any other part of the body, is subject to pus infection. That is perfectly natural. It is forever reaching out to grasp something, and that something may be sharp and cut through the skin and fascia and leave a pus germ—a staphylococcus or a streptococcus—in the deep fascial spaces where the tendons run. And then the tendons move back and forth and spread the infection up the arm.

It is the condition called "blood poisoning", and is marked by those fine red lines that go up the arm and show under the skin. Always serious, the surgeon's first thought is to put the hand and the tendons to rest and apply large, moist compresses. If these do not stop the spread of the contagion, incisions must be made. Such a case should always be put in the hands of a surgeon, but recognition of its nature can be made from the description given above.

Another Condition

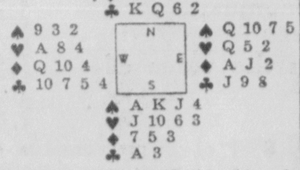

Another condition of a chronic nature in which the fasciae of the hand are involved is the condition known as "Dupuytren's contracture". You may have noticed some of your friends, especially men, who have a little finger, or perhaps two or three fingers, curled up towards the inside of the palm. No one knows the exact cause, but it appears to occur when the end of some instrument is habitually rubbed against the palm of the hand. I have known a case in a golfer, and one in a gentleman farmer who spends most of his day with a rake or a hoe in his hands.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet", "Indigestion and Constipation", "Reducing and Gaining", "Infant Feeding", "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes", "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

DON'T BE PIG-HEADED

PIG-HEADEDNESS PROBABLY shows itself more in the defense against no trump contracts than in any other phase of bridge. Many a pair, once having led a certain long suit, can not make themselves switch their tactics until the suit is all gone. Careful observation of developments can reveal, every once in a while, the advisability of a shift when it has become apparent that the original plan probably will not work.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable)

After an opening spade bid on this deal by South, North went to 2-Clubs, South to 2-No Trump and North to 3-No Trump.

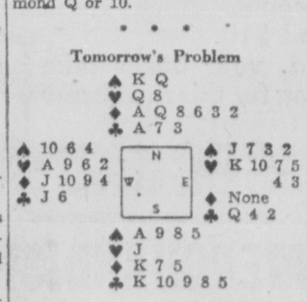

West started the defense by leading the club 4, which South won with the A. He then attempted to set up his hearts by leading the 3 to the 9. East took this trick with his Q and returned a club to North's Q. Declarer then played the heart K to West's A.

West then made the mistake of continuing his clubs and the declarer had no difficulty in making his game with three spades, three clubs, two hearts and one diamond.

A switch by West to a diamond at the fifth trick would have meant defeat for declarer. The opening bid had been a spade, so that suit was protected; declarer tried to set up hearts and the clubs were safely taken care of, so that the only hope for West was the lead of the diamond Q or 10.

PAGES from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Awake at the usual time, but lay long abed before mustering enough courage to get up and close the window. Once Dr. Frederick Cook told me about Polar ice cracking and letting him drop into the sea and also of how he and his companions on his dashes to the pole took turn in getting out first of a morning and putting the tea to boil over an alcohol lamp. Two men slept in fur-lined sleeping bags. One had to get out in temperatures that ranged down to 70 below zero. Putting on that tea took only a few minutes, but one got mighty cold during that time. Then the tea maker returned to the sleeping bag until the tea boiled. By getting up he had gained a great privilege. It was to put his freezing feet against the warm stomach of his companion. Yes, those must have been trying experiences, but I doubt that the Doctor or his companions ever got colder than I do on the brief dash from my bed to the bedroom window.

At the plant did find a printer waiting for me, a man looking for a job. There a competent workman with many years of experience, a wife and a working daughter who would be married. But the printer can not find a job and release his daughter. "What's wrong with everything?" he asked. "I am a trained man actually begging for a job and can not find it." I could not tell him and I could not give him a job. Talking to a man who really is willing to work and who can not find employment is really a saddening experience.

"SEE? SEE what I mean? See that devil look on her face? Look at her now!"

Worthington Gurley was speaking in an excited stage whisper to Dr. Holgate, and pointing to Peaches Pomeroy.

"She planted that bracelet, Dr. Holgate. Just like I told you. We ought to have turned her in."

"You may be right, Gurley. But—to look at her now, I think the uncertainty and fear of her position is greater punishment."

Never, surely, had misery and fear shown more in anybody's expression. Peaches looked ghastly. Not even her expert makeup could conceal the character of her now. Dr. Holgate shuddered. "Thank God!" he muttered—really a prayer of gratitude that he had come to his senses, he who had imagined himself in love with her.

"I want to find Sara Sue Davis," he announced emphatically "If it is not too late."

"Oh, she's still here," said Worthington. "It's not midnight. Anyhow her coat—"

But Dr. Holgate hadn't meant that. His "too late" was his own secret matter. For Gurley had told him that Bob Towne would marry Sara Sue!

Thornton Holgate was one of those somewhat rare individuals who store abundant energy, but keep it under control until they themselves will to release it. Such a characteristic is associated with a contemplative, analytical mind, a thinker. Usually they are comparatively sedentary in outward appearances, but can become physically dynamic when occasion demands, dynamic with action!

Thornton had proved this when emergency arose at Galveston beach. Nobody would have suspected that a scholarly instructor in mathematics could be an expert swimmer with stamina enough to save two lives. And again at the Sylvan beach dance hall—he certainly flattened a burly sailor with his fist, just because such a course had been presented to him as reasonable and right.

Now, in the University club, he faced a similar emergency decision. Only, this one was infinitely more important to him, more personal and urgent. He had to act.

He grabbed the younger man by the hand as if he were a little boy, and started pell-mell across the dance floor, craning his neck, looking. "Find Sara Sue," he commanded Worthington.

Unconsciously, hand in hand, they bumped into dancers and walked all about the great ballroom. They asked people for Sara Sue.

"She was here a while ago," someone answered. "Don Romero was wooing her."

GARNER RETURN TO WASHINGTON HOLDS INTEREST

Many Believe Vice President May Take Active Role With Conservatives

BIG SPENDING OPPOSED

Strong Hand May Be Taken In Mapping Legislative Policy Of Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(UP)—Vice President Garner's imminent return to the capital renewed speculation today whether he will attempt next session to organize conservative democrats into a legislative economy bloc.

He and Mrs. Garner will arrive Saturday and the vice president soon thereafter will join the parade of legislative leaders to the White House for conferences.

The treasury is expected today to report that spending for this fiscal year has passed $4,000,000,000. The net deficit already recorded is in excess of $1,564,000,000. More than twice the sum by which the treasury went into the red in the corresponding period of the previous fiscal year.

By nightfall tonight the national debt will have been increased to approximately $39,400,000,000 by the borrowing of $740,000,000 of funds to help pay government costs through March, 1939. Further borrowing probably will be necessary in Mah. Offsetting the debt and deficit bulge will be the current condition of the treasury cash box. When today's borrowing operations are placed on the books and reported later in the week, Secetary Morgenthau's working balance of spending money will amount almost to $2,500,000,000.

Protests Voiced

The vice president has been sharply critical of New Deal spending methods although his personal relations with Mr. Roosevelt, in whose cabinet he occupies an unofficial position, have remained friendly. On occasion, however, the veteran from Texas has let go to intimate bitter words of protest against some administration policies. And these hot words quickly circulate in Washington, considerably modifying the effect of a rule self-imposed by Garner that he will not discuss anything in public.

A friend of long standing sat with Garner after Mr. Roosevelt proposd his anti-depression pump-priming program last Spring and the vice president sharply insisted that such spending must "stop," but the pump-priming plan went through with votes to spare as have most of the White House proposals to which Garner has been represented by his intimates as being opposed.

Advance reports on Garner emphasize that he will have no part in any anti-New Deal coalition with Republicans in this session of congess and few persons knowing his strong party feelings doubt the accuracy of that.

But Garner might find it compatible with party regularity to take a stronger hand next session in shaping legislative policy. It probably would have to be done, if at all, by organization of conservative congressional Democrats to bargain or negotiate with the new deal wing of the party for compromise programs.

Curtis Dall Weds Again

CURTIS DALL, former husband of the present Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, daughter of the President, and his bride, Katharine Miller Leas, are shown at her home in Haverford, Pa. They were to marry Thursday.

STUDENTS LOSE 'DATE' SHYNESS AT TORONTO U.

TORONTO, Ont. (UP)—The University of Toronto's four-year-old "dime date bureau" is in danger of death through "starvation," but editors of Varsity, undergraduates newspaper, proposed to conduct a thorough survey to see if it can not be rejuvenated.

The bureau, established four years ago, arranged dates for students of the university for the cost of 10 cents. Applicants were required to fill out a lengthy form paper giving their preferences as to height, appearance, interests and social standing of their prospective dates.

The bureau enjoyed a boom until this year when interest suddenly died. Varsity editors, however, indignantly denied suggestions that campus romance was dead and put forward the suggestion that this year's undergraduates are either more bold in their efforts to arrange their own dates or have formed them selves into small "sets" in which they have their own friends.

CANADA SPENDS $3 PER CAPITA ON MILITARISM

MONTREAL (UP)—Great Britain is spending more than twice as much per head of population on armaments as the United States and eight times as much as Canada, Brigadier R. O. Alexander, D.S.O., commanding officer of the Montreal military district, told the Canadian Society of Cost Accountants and Industrial Engineers at a meeting here.

Describing organization of Canada's militia, air force and navy, Alexander said the Canadian government was spending $3 per capita of population on these services, compared with $12 per capital in the United States and $25 in Great Britain.

Alexander described the armaments expenditures as "a form of national insurance" and denied there was any attempt by military forces of Canada to glorify war or militarism.

"We are, I suppose, the most unmilitary people in the world," he said. "Yet that does not mean that we cannot be good fighters. Still you hear in schools and in some sections of the press that we are trying to militarize Canadians.

"Of course, this is absurd. We regard ourselves as a form of national insurance—just as the fire brigade is a form of insurance for any city."

Rabbit Thief Concurs

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (UP) — When a justice of the peace fined him $1 and costs and sentenced him to six months at the county farm on a charge of stealing 55 rabbits, Jeff Wray replied, "It's just what I expected, and I think it will be good for me."

ROMANCE SAILS ON HOUSEBOAT

BERKELEY, Cal. Dec. 15 (UP)—Houseboating on the Mississippi is one of the big possibilities overlooked by America's newlyweds, according to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson, who have just returned from a 103-day houseboat trip from Chicago to New Orleans.

They were married a year ago and while the trip was a second honeymoon, they declare their only regret is that they did not choose it for their first one as well.

The trip, they admit, was inspired by Mark Twain's "Life on the Mississippi."

Anderson built the houseboat, which was their home for three months, on the banks of a canal out of Chicago. It cost $75 and was christened the Dixie Belle.

Anderson had originally planned a trip of the Mississippi on a packet, but abandoned it for the home-made trip down the river when he learned that passenger traffic on the Mississippi had been abandoned.

The houseboat, 18 feet long, was built in 10 days, and launched in the Illinois river by pipes and planks. It had no motive power and depended entirely on the river's currents for its progress.

At the start of the 1,500-mile trip, the craft floated down the Illinois river at about 10 miles a day, but after reaching the stronger current of the Mississippi sometimes made as high as 35 miles a day.

Five enormous locks, built for the passage of larger vessels, had to be opened to let the houseboat pass.

"I wasn't at all sold on the idea at first," Mrs. Anderson admitted, "but it gradually grew on me until I now consider it the ideal vacation or honeymoon trip. It was thrillng even if there were no mishaps or danger."

During the entire trip they accepted only one tow, and that was at a widened point in the Illinois river where there was very little current.

"It would have taken us 10 days to go that 28 miles without a tow," Anderson said.

Comfort on the trip was assured by Anderson's forethought in equipping the 10 by 7 cabin with camp stove, electric lights, operated by batteries, and a spring bed.

We don't blame that Chicago woman for asking for a divorce after her husband blacked not only her eyes but their dog's too. When a man no longer is kind to animals, he must have lost his self respect.

NO THROAT ILLS FOR SWALLOWER IN SWORD ACT

HOXIE, Kas. (UP)—John G. (Lucky) Ball, who turned from lion taming to sword swallowing for a "soft" job, believes there's no better way of avoiding throat ailments than "to gargle a sword now and then."

To prove his assertion, Ball cites the fact that not once since he started swallowing swords five years ago has he been bothered with a sore throat. His wife, one of the few women sword swallowers in the country, likewise has not suffered from throat trouble although she has unusually large tonsils.

Ball quit taming lions and started swallowing swords after a lion severely injured him. There is no danger of being injured by swallowing a sword, Ball said, unless there are jagged edges on the weapon. For a chaser, Ball eats fire.

Ball has appeared in several motion pictures and now is under contract. He came to Sheridan county, Kas., years ago to put on his lion taming act, married a local girl and since then has claimed this as his home county.

AFRICA LOOMS FOR 15,000 JEWS LEAVING ITALY

No Choice As To Home Seems Left For Non-Citizens

ROME, Dec. 15,—(UP)—Italy's anti-Jewish campaign, initiated with unexpected abruptness in September, is rapidly approaching its goal, but it will not enter the final phase until Feb. 12, 1939.

Branded as "enemies of Fascism," Italy's 70,000 Jews have been subjected to a series of restrictive measures which in three months have covered almost the same ground as the anti-Jewish legislation adopted in Germany during the past five years.

The principal measures officially taken so far are:

1—Jews cannot teach in Italian schools.

2—Jews cannot attend regular Italian schools.

3—Foreign Jews cannot live in Italy, Libya, or the Aegean islands after Feb. 12, 1939.

4—Italian citizenship granted to Jews after Jan. 1, 1919, has been revoked.

5—All foreign Jews who entered Italy since Jan. 1, 1919, must leave the country before Feb. 12, 1939.

6—Italians cannot marry Jews and other non-Aryans.

7—Jews cannot belong to the Fascist party.

8—Jews cannot manage any business employing more than 100 persons.

9—Jews cannot own more than 50 hectares of land.

Ruling on Mixed Parentage

According to a ruling of the Fascist Grand Council these measures affect only those persons whose mothers and fathers are both Jewish. Persons of mixed blood are not subject to these restrictions unless they profess the Jewish religion.

Without waiting for official legislation, newspapers, hospitals and business concerns have been liquidating their Jewish employes. Publishing houses have ceased handling books written by Jews, theatres have stopped producing plays written by Jews, and radio stations have quit playing music composed or executed by Jewish artists.

There are a number of exemptions for families of Jews who have voluntarily fought, been bounded or decorated in one of Italy's four wars in Libya, Europe, Ethiopia and Spain. These exemptions do not apply to the ban against entering Italian schools.

To Get Full Pensions

Jews who have lost their jobs with the government are entitled to their full pension. Special schools with Jewish teachers are being organized for Jewish students. Jews are permitted to worship without restriction. Those who wish to emigrate to Italian East Africa will be given special facilities and assigned to special regions.

These concessions, the Fascist Grand Council decided, may be entirely suspended or increased to the advantage of the Jews, depending on "the attitude which the Jews assume toward Fascist Italy."

This flexible ruling is interpreted to mean that those Jews living in Italy may be considered as hostages for the good or bad behavior toward Italy of Jews living in other countries.

In view of this decision few Italian or foreign Jews are anxious to migrate to Ethiopia because they feel their position there would be too uncertain. But necessity knows no choice and therefore many of the 15,000 foreign Jews in Italy may be obliged to go to East Africa if they cannot find any other country which will accept them before Feb. 12. As more and more frontiers are closed to them, thousands have lost all hope of choosing their future home.

At first the Italian public received these measures with pained surprise. The average Italian had not expected them to be so severe or far-reaching. But as the government's propaganda campaign against the Jews increased in intensity this feeling diminished into resignation or even attempts to justify the program.

Fascists say Italy's policy was necessary to keep the Italian race pure and rid the country of alleged enemies of the regime. They deny there is any persecution of Jews in Italy. They say there is only "discrimination" between "pure" Italians and Jews. While admitting the number of Jews in Italy is small in proportion to the total population, Fascists say they have held too many prominent positions and have not given the regime full-hearted support.

SERGEANT USES SALES TACTICS IN RECRUITING

FORT WORTH, Tex. — (UP) — Recruiting Sergt. Homer T. Cummings, who used to be a salesman, has become a champion mail-order solictor of soldiers for the army.

Cummings a distant relative of Homer Cummings, U. S. attorney-general, has a correspondence list that fellow recruiting officers envy. He enlisted more new soldiers than any officer in the nation during October and has a perpetuating plan that he hopes will keep his average up.

The sergeant writes to several hundred young men who are prospective soldiers. He has another mailing list that includes the names of public officials, postmasters and school leaders in this section.

Names of the prospects are sent by the contacts that Cummings has established.

Cummings said that his latest sales efforts are built around the pension idea.

"Join our Army and later retire on a life pension—become better trained citizens" is his slogan. The response has been so great that other recruiting officers are writing to Cummings for advice.

AFRICA LOOMS FOR 15,000 JEWS LEAVING ITALY

No Choice As To Home Seems Left For Non-Citizens

ROME, Dec. 15,—(UP)—Italy's anti-Jewish campaign, initiated with unexpected abruptness in September, is rapidly approaching its goal, but it will not enter the final phase until Feb. 12, 1939.

Branded as "enemies of Fascism," Italy's 70,000 Jews have been subjected to a series of restrictive measures which in three months have covered almost the same ground as the anti-Jewish legislation adopted in Germany during the past five years.

The principal measures officially taken so far are:

1—Jews cannot teach in Italian schools.

2—Jews cannot attend regular Italian schools.

3—Foreign Jews cannot live in Italy, Libya, or the Aegean islands after Feb. 12, 1939.

4—Italian citizenship granted to Jews after Jan. 1, 1919, has been revoked.

5—All foreign Jews who entered Italy since Jan. 1, 1919, must leave the country before Feb. 12, 1939.

6—Italians cannot marry Jews and other non-Aryans.

7—Jews cannot belong to the Fascist party.

8—Jews cannot manage any business employing more than 100 persons.

9—Jews cannot own more than 50 hectares of land.

Ruling on Mixed Parentage

According to a ruling of the Fascist Grand Council these measures affect only those persons whose mothers and fathers are both Jewish. Persons of mixed blood are not subject to these restrictions unless they profess the Jewish religion.

Without waiting for official legislation, newspapers, hospitals and business concerns have been liquidating their Jewish employes. Publishing houses have ceased handling books written by Jews, theatres have stopped producing plays written by Jews, and radio stations have quit playing music composed or executed by Jewish artists.

There are a number of exemptions for families of Jews who have voluntarily fought, been bounded or decorated in one of Italy's four wars in Libya, Europe, Ethiopia and Spain. These exemptions do not apply to the ban against entering Italian schools.

FORD TO WIDEN FARM PROJECT OF IDLE BOYS

Experiment On 400-Acre Tract Nets Profit Of $6,000

DEARBORN, Mich., Dec. 00—(UP)—Henry Ford is more convinced than ever that the soil will pay dividends. Seventy youths he started this year on a back-to-the-farm movement came through the experiment so financially successful Ford plans to expand the idea next year.

Throughout the lean years since 1929, the automobile magnate had insisted that the key to returning prosperity was in the soil. He led the way to the use of farm products in heavy industry by making door handles, steering wheels and paint from the soy bean.

Last Spring he conceived an idea that would help jobless youths from needy families keep themselves busy and possibly earn some money in agriculture. He turned over a 400-acre tract near his old homestead to 70 boys provided them with farm machinery, army tents and a mess hall. The boys called it Camp Legion because many of them were from veterans' families whose wage earners were disabled or dead.

Net Profit $6,000

After a bountiful harvest this Fall, the camp showed a profit of $6,000 from its agricultural products after costs of the camp and $2 daily wages to the boys had been deducted. Only 11 of the original camp enrollees failed to work out the full six months in the fields. Eight of them were forced to quit to move away from the city with their parents.

When the profits were divided, each of the full-time enrollees received shares of $96.97 each. Those forced to quit before the camp broke up received lesser amounts.

Ford visited the camp frequently and followed the progress made by the youths closely. He was so pleased with the net results he told Al Brown, camp director, that more camps of the same type would be started next year.

Youths Novice Farmers

The youths in Camp Legion were given a free reign when they started the project. Brown remained only in an advisory capacity. Although most of the boys were strictly "duffer" farmers, they appointed their own bosses from among their number.

At the end of the harvest they had produced 6,000 bushels of field corn, 5,300 ears of sweet corn, 2,000 pounds of soy beans, 1,100 bushels of tomatoes, 1,150 bushels of potatoes, 500 pumpkins, 6,000 pounds of squash and a wide variety of garden vegetables which were sold at a roadside market.

After the payoff, when most of the camp members were prepared to go out and seek jobs, Ford called them together and gave them jobs for the Winter in his automobile plants. Those under 18 were placed in the Ford trade school.

Long Fear Justified

ESCONDIDO, Cal. (UP)—Harvey Rainer hated and feared automobiles. He called them suicide wagons. In preference Rainer pedaled a bicycle "for safety's sake." Now he's dead from injuries suffered after 40 years of accident-free cicyling. At the age of 81 he was struck by a car.

Snyder's Trial Goes On; Time Out For Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15—(UP)—Martin Snyder, accused of using a bullet to dissuade Ruth Etting from marrying another man—and who congratulated her when she did—tried to avoid a prison sentence of perhaps two life-times today by explaining the inner workings of his heart.

The 42 year old crippled Snyder, who is known in the hot spots of most big cities as Colonel Moe the Gimp, was his own chief witness in defense of charges that he shot Myrl Alderman last October 15 because he thought Alderman had married the blues-singing Miss Etting.

That seemed to have been a mistake. They didn't get married until yesterday. Even then the bald-headed Gimp, for 17 years the husband and business manager of Miss Etting, couldn't believe it.

"But if you an't kidding me and it's true," he said in court when told of their aerial elopement to Las Vegas, Nev., "then all I got to say is I wish 'em all the happiness in the world and from the bottom of my heart."

Newlyweds Enter Court

The trial, which conceivably could send the Gimp to prison for 115 years, proceeded with a couple of minor witnesses—women who had heard the Gimp make threats—and then the newlyweds walked into court, after a hair-raising flight through a sleet storm.

Miss Etting, who told the preacher she was 37, and the husky Alderman, who said he was 30, professed to reporters that they felt no ill-will toward the Gimp, despite their testimony designed to send him to prison for more than the rest of his life.

They took seats in the rear of the gold-ceilinged court of Judge Thomas L. Ambrose and furtively held hands. The Gimp took one quick look at them, flushed, and studiously avoided glancing their way the rest of the day.

The sudden marriage of Miss Etting to her pianist, who had been married twice before, made the story of the Gimp and his strange love affair more complicated than the plot, say, of "Gone With the Wind." A tabloid calendar is the only device which can straighten it out:

1920: A honkey-tonk show girl in Chicago named Ruth Etting marries the Gimp, gay blade and political hanger-on from South Dearborn street and for 17 years he pushes her toward the entertainment pinnacle until she is earning $5,000 a week as the only lady baritone on the radio.

1937: Ruth Etting, now retired from her career with a fortune in the bank, hands the Gimp $50,000 and divorces him on general charges of cruelty.

Bodyguard Sought

January 1938: Miss Etting, who has been seen in night clubs with Alderman, the pianist, applies to police for a body guard. She claims the jealous Gimp has threatened her life by telephone from New York.

October 1938: The Gimp goes to Alderman's home, shoots him in the stomach and, according to testimony, threatens to kill Miss Etting. She signs her name to police reports as "Mrs. Myrl Alderman."

November 1938: Alderman's second wife, Alma, who filed suit for divorce naming Miss Etting as co-respondent, asks $150,000 from her on grounds of alienation of affection.

December 3: Mrs. Alderman's divorce becomes effective.

December 8: The Gimp goes to trial.

December 13: Miss Etting and Alderman both swear from the witness stand that he attempted murder.

December 14: They make the police records correct by becoming man and wife and kissing each other repeatedly for benefit of news cameramen.

Today's entry on the calendar finds the Gimp, arrayed in a sober suit and one of his fantastically-spotted neckties, called to tell his version of what happened when he invaded Alderman's home with a small-sized and blue-barreled cannon, while Miss Etting was frying pork chops for her new beloved.

Self-Defense Claimed

The Gimp claims he shot in self-defense; that he has more to forgive than to be forgiven, and that he hopes his "Mumsy" of 17 years will be happy with the man he consistently has sneered on as "the iceman."

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with any ailment is to get at its cause. If you're constipated, don't fiddle with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are you won't have to look very far if you eat just the things most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean just a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B,—and it's not a drug, not a medicine!

LIBYA TO HAVE ITALIAN CABLE

ROME, Dec. 5—(UP)—Italy has started work on the world's longest submarine telephone cable.

When completed it will insure continuous telegraphic as well as telephonic service between Libya and the Italian mainland. It will be about 435 miles in length.

The longest underwater telephone cable presently in use is the one joining Australia with Tasmania, which is approximately 195 miles long.

The new submarine cable will extend from Tripoli to Pandelusa Island, which is directly south of the westernmost tip of Sicily. It will then go north to the fortified island of Pantellaria to Porto Empedocle in Sicily, which is two miles from the better-known city of Agrigento.

At present there is a telegraphic cable which joins Tripoli with Syracuse in Sicily. It is 325 miles in length. Laid in 1913, it no longer is adequate to handle the increased telegraphic traffic between Italy and its Mediterranean colony.

There is also the British-controlled cable which passes through Malta. For national and political reasons, Italy naturally wants a wholly Italian telegraphic and telephonic line.

The new cable will be completed some time next year and be ready for service before next Fall.

BERLIN PALACE SITE FOR NEW U. S. EMBASSY

BERLIN (UP)—To make a new home for the American embassy, the Bleucher Palace near Brandenburger Gate is being rebuilt, and the Tattersall, pre-war riding center, is being razed to make room for adjoining gardens.

Built between 1869 and 1871 by Carl Richter, the palace derives its name from the fact that it includes parts of Wartensleben Palace, built on the same spot in 1737, which Frederick William III gave the victorious Prince Bleucher in 1815.

Seven years ago fire destroyed the roof and the octagonal ballroom which stood between two wings, one bordering Pariser Platz and the other Hermann Goering street. It has been the property of the embassy for several years. The embassy probably will be transferred from Bendler street by next April 1.

FORD TO WIDEN FARM PROJECT OF IDLE BOYS

Experiment On 400-Acre Tract Nets Profit Of $6,000

DEARBORN, Mich., Dec. 00—(UP)—Henry Ford is more convinced than ever that the soil will pay dividends. Seventy youths he started this year on a back-to-the-farm movement came through the experiment so financially successful Ford plans to expand the idea next year.

Throughout the lean years since 1929, the automobile magnate had insisted that the key to returning prosperity was in the soil. He led the way to the use of farm products in heavy industry by making door handles, steering wheels and paint from the soy bean.

Last Spring he conceived an idea that would help jobless youths from needy families keep themselves busy and possibly earn some money in agriculture. He turned over a 400-acre tract near his old homestead to 70 boys provided them with farm machinery, army tents and a mess hall. The boys called it Camp Legion because many of them were from veterans' families whose wage earners were disabled or dead.

Net Profit $6,000

After a bountiful harvest this Fall, the camp showed a profit of $6,000 from its agricultural products after costs of the camp and $2 daily wages to the boys had been deducted. Only 11 of the original camp enrollees failed to work out the full six months in the fields. Eight of them were forced to quit to move away from the city with their parents.

When the profits were divided, each of the full-time enrollees received shares of $96.97 each. Those forced to quit before the camp broke up received lesser amounts.

Ford visited the camp frequently and followed the progress made by the youths closely. He was so pleased with the net results he told Al Brown, camp director, that more camps of the same type would be started next year.

Youths Novice Farmers

The youths in Camp Legion were given a free reign when they started the project. Brown remained only in an advisory capacity. Although most of the boys were strictly "duffer" farmers, they appointed their own bosses from among their number.

At the end of the harvest they had produced 6,000 bushels of field corn, 5,300 ears of sweet corn, 2,000 pounds of soy beans, 1,100 bushels of tomatoes, 1,150 bushels of potatoes, 500 pumpkins, 6,000 pounds of squash and a wide variety of garden vegetables which were sold at a roadside market.

After the payoff, when most of the camp members were prepared to go out and seek jobs, Ford called them together and gave them jobs for the Winter in his automobile plants. Those under 18 were placed in the Ford trade school.

Snyder's Trial Goes On; Time Out For Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 15—(UP)—Martin Snyder, accused of using a bullet to dissuade Ruth Etting from marrying another man—and who congratulated her when she did—tried to avoid a prison sentence of perhaps two life-times today by explaining the inner workings of his heart.

The 42 year old crippled Snyder, who is known in the hot spots of most big cities as Colonel Moe the Gimp, was his own chief witness in defense of charges that he shot Myrl Alderman last October 15 because he thought Alderman had married the bluessinging Miss Etting.

That seemed to have been a mistake. They didn't get married until yesterday. Even then the baldheaded Gimp, for 17 years the husband and business manager of Miss Etting, couldn't believe it.

"But if you an't kidding me and it's true," he said in court when told of their aerial elopement to Las Vegas, Nev., "then all I got to say is I wish 'em all the happiness in the world and from the bottom of my heart."

Newlyweds Enter Court

The trial, which conceivably could send the Gimp to prison for 115 years, proceeded with a couple of minor witnesses—women who had heard the Gimp make threats—and then the newlyweds walked into court, after a hair-raising flight through a sleet storm.

Miss Etting, who told the preacher she was 37, and the husky Alderman, who said he was 30, professed to reporters that they felt no ill-will toward the Gimp, despite their testimony designed to send him to prison for more than the rest of his life.

They took seats in the rear of the gold-ceilinged court of Judge Thomas L. Ambrose and furtively held hands. The Gimp took one quick look at them, flushed, and studiously avoided glancing their way the rest of the day.

The sudden marriage of Miss Etting to her pianist, who had been married twice before, made the story of the Gimp and his strange love affair more complicated than the plot, say, of "Gone With the Wind." A tabloid calendar is the only device which can straighten it out:

1920: A honkey-tonk show girl in Chicago named Ruth Etting marries the Gimp, gay blade and political hanger-on from South Dearborn street and for 17 years he pushes her toward the entertainment pinnacle until she is earning $5,000 a week as the only lady baritone on the radio.

1937: Ruth Etting, now retired from her career with a fortune in the bank, hands the Gimp $50,000 and divorces him on general charges of cruelty.

Bodyguard Sought

January 1938: Miss Etting, who has been seen in night clubs with Alderman, the pianist, applies to police for a body guard. She claims the jealous Gimp has threatened her life by telephone from New York.

October 1938: The Gimp goes to Alderman's home, shoots him in the stomach and, according to testimony, threatens to kill Miss Etting. She signs her name to police reports as "Mrs. Myrl Alderman."

November 1938: Alderman's second wife, Alma, who filed suit for divorce naming Miss Etting as corespondent, asks $150,000 from her on grounds of alienation of affection.

December 3: Mrs. Alderman's divorce becomes effective.

December 8: The Gimp goes to trial.

December 13: Miss Etting and Alderman both swear from the witness stand that he attempted murder.

December 14: They make the police records correct by becoming man and wife and kissing each other repeatedly for benefit of news cameramen.

Today's entry on the calendar finds the Gimp, arrayed in a sober suit and one of his fantastically-spotted neckties, called to tell his version of what happened when he invaded Alderman's home with a small-sized and blue-barreled cannon, while Miss Etting was frying pork chops for her new beloved.

Self-Defense Claimed

The Gimp claims he shot in self-defense; that he has more to forgive than to be forgiven, and that he hopes his "Mumsy" of 17 years will be happy with the man he consistently has sneered on as "the iceman."

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with any ailment is to get at its cause. If you're constipated, don't fiddle with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are you won't have to look very far if you eat just the things most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean just a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the intestinal tonic, vitamin B,—and it's not a drug, not a medicine!

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

LIBYA TO HAVE ITALIAN CABLE

ROME, Dec. 5—(UP)—Italy has started work on the world's longest submarine telephone cable.

When completed it will insure continuous telegraphic as well as telephonic service between Libya and the Italian mainland. It will be about 435 miles in length.

The longest underwater telephone cable presently in use is the one joining Australia with Tasmania, which is approximately 195 miles long.

The new submarine cable will extend from Tripoli to Pandelusa Island, which is directly south of the westernmost tip of Sicily. It will then go north to the fortified island of Pantellaria to Porto Empedocle in Sicily, which is two miles from the better-known city of Agrigento.

At present there is a telegraphic cable which joins Tripoli with Syracuse in Sicily. It is 325 miles in length. Laid in 1913, it no longer is adequate to handle the increased telegraphic traffic between Italy and its Mediterranean colony.

There is also the British-controlled cable which passes through Malta. For national and political reasons, Italy naturally wants a wholly Italian telegraphic and telephonic line.

The new cable will be completed some time next year and be ready for service before next Fall.

BERLIN PALACE SITE FOR NEW U. S. EMBASSY

BERLIN (UP)—To make a new home for the American embassy, the Bleucher Palace near Brandenburger Gate is being rebuilt, and the Tattersall, pre-war riding center, is being razed to make room for adjoining gardens.

Built between 1869 and 1871 by Carl Richter, the palace derives its name from the fact that it includes parts of Wartensleben Palace, built on the same spot in 1737, which Frederick William III gave the victorious Prince Bleucher in 1815.

Seven years ago fire destroyed the roof and the octagonal ballroom which stood between two wings, one bordering Pariser Platz and the other Hermann Goering street. It has been the property of the embassy for several years. The embassy probably will be transferred from Bendler street by next April 1.

The primary purpose of the rehearsal was to acquaint the composers with the special sound system which the orchestra will use the night of the concert and have them aid in determining the proper amplification for the best presentation of their particular compositions. All highly approved the system's installation for the concert as it permits an unusual richness and clarity of tone otherwise impossible to achieve. They also agreed that because the sound system blends so perfectly with the acoustics of Carnegie Hall, the audience will be totally unaware of its presence.

CHINESE STRIVE TO SAVE YOUTH IN WAR'S WAKE

Children "Adopted" For Duration And Are Trained In Camps

HANKOW, Dec. 15 — (UP) — "Here's a receipt for your son. Don't worry, we'll take him to a very safe place where there is no bombing. He will be fed well, we'll teach him to read and write and a trade. And when the war is over you present this receipt and you'll have him back."

Thus hundreds, even thousands, of Chinese boys and girls become "temporary orphans" for the duration of the war, to be cared for and fed by nation-wide organizations instead of left as a burden on already starving parents.

For the same war that makes tens of thousands of Chinese children homeless and robs them of whatever start in life they would have had in peace, paradoxically is providing many with better care and more favorable conditions than they normally would have had. The majority of the children left destitute by the war are the children of the poor.

Receive Expert Supervision

Organizations have sprung up to collect these children from city and hamlet, and to send them in groups to new country homes in the interior, where they will receive expert attention. Not only this, but they will partake in the construction of the New China in hitherto unexploited territory.

The poor children of China have no lack of famous guardians. The Wartime Child Welfare Association has Mme. Chiang Kai-shek as chairman. Groups of women "New Life" workers in co-operation with the War Area Service Corps, collect children from the bombed areas and cities lying within the war zones. One association has more than 10,000 children on its books.

Most of the children are not orphans in any but an economics sense. Their parents are living, but themselves penniless and homeless. They are in no position to support their children. That they should give them up to an organization which is able to look after them in safety is common sense, the parents realize.

Brought from within a 100-mile radius of Hankow, the children are fed, clothed (white blouse and blue overalls) and given a badge on which is written their name, age and group. Three photographs are taken—one for the association's file, one to be sent to the future camp or home in the interior, and one for the godparents who undertake to pay their expenses at the home.

Cost Less Than $1 Monthly

It costs about 85 cents a month to "adopt" a child in this way. In Chungking numerous pledges for the support of war orphans have been made by the rich. The former mayor of Chungking, Li Ken-Ku, set the example by offering to support 20 of them for an indefinite period. A well known banker is playing godfather to 40. There are cases where foreigners living abroad are supporting a hundred or more children. Thus far there is only one case reported in which the godparents actually adopted the child into the home.

As soon as transportation can be obtained, groups of children set off with teachers for their new homes. Most of them are in Szechuen, Kwangsi, Kyeichow, and Kwangtung. A camp also is being prepared in northern Hupeh province within hiking distance of Hankow.

The children in these refugee camps are taught handicrafts, such as spinnning, weaving, bamboo work, knitting and also gardening. In this way they become almost self-supporting.

Business Bad, Bandit Leaves

ARLINGTON, Mass. (UP) — William Brackett, Jr., 25, gasoline station attendant, knows how to handle holdup men. When a bandit demanded money at gunpoint, Brackett calmly replied: "Business is terrible. I haven't got a cent." The gunman fled, leaving Brackett in possession of $9 in his pockets and $20 in the cash register.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Penned by Garrett Fort, prominent playwright and top Hollywood

scenarist, Republic's "Storm Over Bengal," comes to the Cliftona screen Friday and Saturday on a double feature program.

Fort well knows the India of which he writes. He once spent a unique year traveling through the country in the manner best fitted to give him a thorough insight into its customs, traditions, and mannerisms. Six months of the year Garrett traveled in high society, being dinner and wined by Maharajahs and other potentates, who were eager for the publicity he could dispense as a top syndicate writer. The other six months Fort lived as a native, fighting for food and existence, haggling at bazaars, sleeping in the open, a dirty, flapping dhoti his only dress.

AT THE GRAND

Heading the talented supporting cast are Herbert Mundin, David Oliver, Lorraine Krueger, Charles D. Brown, Bernard Nadell, Richard Lane and Eddie Anderson.

Miss Farrell is cast as a candid camera girl who risks life and limb to furnish a photo mangazine pictorial "scoops" of news events and human interest stories. When she makes a picture layout of a down-and-out attorney, portrayed by Kruger, he sues for libel and begins a dramatic comeback in public life.

Her fast line of chatter and her candid lens takes the feminine photographer in and out of many jams, culminating when she and

AT THE CIRCLE

Although it starts in a western locale, "Cowboy from Brooklyn," the Warner Bros. musical farce which opens today at the Circle Theatre with Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane in the featured roles, is definitely not a western picture, for it takes nothing in the western scene seriously.

It is a hilarious tale of the complications which ensue when a New York theatrical producer, played by O'Brien, comes to a Wyoming dude ranch and assumes that a trio of stranded eastern musicians who dress up in cowboy duds while they entertain the guests are authentic cowboys.

Taking the leader of the trio,

CHINESE STRIVE TO SAVE YOUTH IN WAR'S WAKE

Children "Adopted" For Duration And Are Trained In Camps

HANKOW, Dec. 15 — (UP) — "Here's a receipt for your son. Don't worry, we'll take him to a very safe place where there is no bombing. He will be fed well, we'll teach him to read and write and a trade. And when the war is over you present this receipt and you'll have him back."

Thus hundreds, even thousands, of Chinese boys and girls become "temporary orphans" for the duration of the war, to be cared for and fed by nation-wide organizations instead of left as a burden on already starving parents.

For the same war that makes tens of thousands of Chinese children homeless and robs them of whatever start in life they would have had in peace, paradoxically is providing many with better care and more favorable conditions than they normally would have had. The majority of the children left destitute by the war are the children of the poor.

Receive Expert Supervision

Organizations have sprung up to collect these children from city and hamlet, and to send them in groups to new country homes in the interior, where they will receive expert attention. Not only this, but they will partake in the construction of the New China in hitherto unexploited territory.

The poor children of China have no lack of famous guardians. The Wartime Child Welfare Association has Mme. Chiang Kai-shek as chairman. Groups of women "New Life" workers in co-operation with the War Area Service Corps, collect children from the bombed areas and cities lying within the war zones. One association has more than 10,000 children on its books.

Most of the children are not orphans in any but an economics sense. Their parents are living, but themselves penniless and homeless. They are in no position to support their children. That they should give them up to an organization which is able to look after them in safety is common sense, the parents realize.

Brought from within a 100-mile radius of Hankow, the children are fed, clothed (white blouse and blue overalls) and given a badge on which is written their name, age and group. Three photographs are taken—one for the association's file, one to be sent to the future camp or home in the interior, and one for the godparents who undertake to pay their expenses at the home.

Cost Less Than $1 Monthly

It costs about 85 cents a month to "adopt" a child in this way. In Chungking numerous pledges for the support of war orphans have been made by the rich. The former mayor of Chungking, Li Ken-Ku, set the example by offering to support 20 of them for an indefinite period. A well known banker is playing godfather to 40. There are cases where foreigners living abroad are supporting a hundred or more children. Thus far there is only one case reported in which the godparents actually adopted the child into the home.

As soon as transportation can be obtained, groups of children set off with teachers for their new homes. Most of them are in Szechuen, Kwangsi, Kyeichow, and Kwangtung. A camp also is being prepared in northern Hupeh province within hiking distance of Hankow.

The children in these refugee camps are taught handicrafts, such as spinnning, weaving, bamboo work, knitting and also gardening. In this way they become almost self-supporting.

Business Bad, Bandit Leaves

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

scenarist, Republic's "Storm Over Bengal," comes to the Cliftona screen Friday and Saturday on a double feature program.

Fort well knows the India of which he writes. He once spent a unique year traveling through the country in the manner best fitted to give him a thorough insight into its customs, traditions, and mannerisms. Six months of the year Garrett traveled in high society, being dinner and wined by Maharajahs and other potentates, who were eager for the publicity he could dispense as a top syndicate writer. The other six months Fort lived as a native, fighting for food and existence, haggling at bazaars, sleeping in the open, a dirty, flapping dhoti his only dress.

AT THE GRAND

Heading the talented supporting cast are Herbert Mundin, David Oliver, Lorraine Krueger, Charles D. Brown, Bernard Nadell, Richard Lane and Eddie Anderson.

Miss Farrell is cast as a candid camera girl who risks life and limb to furnish a photo mangazine pictorial "scoops" of news events and human interest stories. When she makes a picture layout of a down-and-out attorney, portrayed by Kruger, he sues for libel and begins a dramatic comeback in public life.

Her fast line of chatter and her candid lens takes the feminine photographer in and out of many jams, culminating when she and

AT THE CIRCLE

Although it starts in a western locale, "Cowboy from Brooklyn," the Warner Bros. musical farce which opens today at the Circle Theatre with Pat O'Brien, Dick Powell and Priscilla Lane in the featured roles, is definitely not a western picture, for it takes nothing in the western scene seriously.

It is a hilarious tale of the complications which ensue when a New York theatrical producer, played by O'Brien, comes to a Wyoming dude ranch and assumes that a trio of stranded eastern musicians who dress up in cowboy duds while they entertain the guests are authentic cowboys.

Taking the leader of the trio,

MILITARY TIES DRAWN CLOSER IN CORSICA AREA

by radio disputed Italy's "historical" claim to such areas as Tunisia on the basis of early and heavy Italian settlement there. "Ancient history does not create modern rights any more than emigration creates rights over any nation that accepts surplus populations," the article said.

Emphasis on Corsica

France laid particular emphasis on developments of Corsica, which is now being referred to by naval experts as "the French Gibraltar."

Authorities in Corsica were coordinating manifestations of indignation against Italy and press dispatches from Ajaccio reported intense feeling. Guards were maintained at the Italian consulate and at the home of prominent Italian residents as demonstrations continued almost daily.

The mayors of the principal Corsican cities such as Ajaccio, Bastia, and Calvi will join in a series of pro-French demonstrations during Daladier's visit, which incidentally will coincide with the visit of British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to Rome to discuss the Mediterranean and other problems with Fascist Premier Benito Mussolini.

Much for Propaganda

French sources claimed that Italy was spending as much as $500,000 in an effort to create sentiment in Corsica in favor of Italy. They alleged that this fund was being spent to attempt to influence the Corsican press toward Italy. To this end, a tri-monthly revue, Archivio Storico Di Corsica, has been established and the newspaper Il Telegrafo has assumed the task of affirming Corsican desire for union with Italy. Other newspapers also are sent to Corsica from Italy.

In regard to Togoland, which lies on Africa's Atlantic coast. Montagne reported that the population was "profoundly attached to France."

ing their banks to prepare the transfers.

In cases where stocks and bonds were transferred, early preparation was not possible because banks in big cities received instructions only this morning that the value of stocks and bonds must be calculated on the basis of quotations for Nov. 30. These quotations happened to be approximately the same as those today. However, most provincial banks had not received these instructions, which were forwarded by ordinary mail yesterday.

Even if Jews desired, they would not have been able to take stocks and shares to the Nazi authorities direct. They had been instructed to deposit sums assessed against them in banks, and the banks were instructed not to return any such deposits to the depositors.

Recent edicts had made it possible for Jews to transfer securities, land titles, mine royalties and other assets to satisfy today's installment.

LONDON PAPER CLAIMS 15 HIGH GERMANS SLAIN

LONDON, Dec. 15—(UP)—The News Review asserted today that it had excellent authority for reports from Berlin that 15 high ranking army officers had been executed on treason charges and that dozens of others had been sent to concentration camps or military prison.

According to the publication, it was alleged that the men involved planned to raid Adolf Hitler's mountain home in Bavaria, and even contemplated seizing or kill-Hitler.

It was added that the executions apparently were ordered by Hitler himself after a report from Heinrich Himmler, chief of the secret police, the Gestapo, of a conspiracy against government.

There have been frequent reports recently of a political purge in Germany. The reports have not originated in Germany and they have been denied by the German government.

DRAFT OF PLAN FOR AMERICAN PEACE STUDIED

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 15—(UP)—A final draft of the United States project for a united American defense front against foreign political or military invasion—revised to meet the objections of Argentina—was submited privately today to the 21 delegations at the eighth Pan-American conference.

The revised draft, which is almost certain to represent the final declaration by the conference, disclosed changes in the original documents prepared by U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull as a basis for discussion. The changes were designed to:—

1—Meet Argentina's opposition to any accord that might be interpreted as a treaty or alliance. Thus the project will be a declaration by the conference instead of a binding accord.

2—Avoid language that might be considered a direct affront to any European power.

SCIOTO-TWP SCHOOL NEWS

First and Second Grades

The first and second grades are studying about transportation. They have drawn pictures about the different means of transportation. The first and second graders are making Christmas presents for their mothers and fathers.

Third Grade

Dorothy Reed and Charlotte Holshue made two original Christmas pictures which are displayed in their room. The third graders are getting ready for their Christmas program.

Fourth Grade

The fourth grade is working on different Christmas scenes. In reading they are studying the story, "Christmas of Children of Other Lands." They are also working on stage scenes. Those who are on the committee for the blackboard border are: Mary Rogers, Lois Johnson, Pearl Brakket.

Fifth Grade News

We have drawn names in our class in order to exchange gifts at Christmas time. We are going to exchange gifts on December 23, and then we shall be excused for Christmas vacation.

Sixth Grade News

We have drawn names in our class in order to exchange gifts at Christmas on December 23. Each one has a chance to get some other's name. The teacher also put in her name.

Seventh Grade News

There have been two girls selected from our room to join the high school Glee Club for rehearsal on December 23. They are Eileen Philips and Arlene Willoughby. Both are in the Junior High School Glee club.

Eighth Grade News

We have two girls from our room joining the high school Glee club for the rehearsal on December 23. They are Beatrice Willoughby and Lounell Finch. They are in the Junior Glee club.

Conming Events

Next Friday morning the 8th grade will present its chapel program. Several departments of school are preparing for the Christmas program. This program will be given on Dec. 23. The first four grades will present the program in the afternoon at 1:15 p. m. The high school will present a play to be given by the Dramatics club on the Friday evening of Dec. 23. After the play we will have about forty-five minutes of singing that will be in charge of our music teacher, Chestora Dountz.

Sophomore News

In Latin we have decided to have a Christmas party with our exchange of gifts, we will have entertainments and also refreshments.

Also in Latin we are studying the ways the Romans lived, how differently they lived from us today, of what their homes are made of and the peculiar way they were built, of what kind of furniture which consisted of a table which was round or square. They did not have chairs like we have today, but couches which they layed down on to eat and with which the fingers were used instead of knife, fork or spoon. Statues, beds, and lamps which gave but poor light also were in the homes.

Since Dorothy Mayberry is not with us any longer, the vice-president who is Bertha Pope of Hobby Lobby club will take her place as president.

We are learning how to wrap packages and postage on letters in junior business training. We are also reading a very interesting story in English "Treasure Island" which we are almost finished with.

YOUTH AND AGE ERR AT WHEEL

NEW HAVEN, Conn. Dec. 15 (UP)—Dr. Harry R. DeSilva, conducting a program of driver research at Yale's Institute of Human Relations classifies youthful and elderly drivers as the most unreliable on the highways.

"Most of our elderly motorists," he said, "learned to drive relatively late in life when their habits were rather inflexible. Elderly persons learn more slowly, and when they have attained a minimum standard of skill are more likely to be satisfied than youngsters. Many have never pushed on to the higher level of skill reached by present-day young people, so many of whom receive vigorous training followed by an examination. Add to this the fact that elderly persons learned to drive with old, noisy, slow cars with high seats and correspondingly easy visibility on uncongested highways, and one sees a reason for present-day maladjustments among our 'old-timers'."

Youth Lacks Restraint

"They drive more rapidly and travel farther than older drivers. Having less experience and responsibilities (there are fewer car owners and less married men in the younger age group) they undoubtedly drive with less restraint and are more interested in getting places in a hurry. They have less insight into their own faults and into the possible defects of their cars. Since they are continually exploring new and unfamiliar roads they are less acquainted with the dangers that may confront them on the highway.

"Their ability to respond to complex situations and emergencies is not as good as it will be in later years. The chief redeeming virtue of young people is that they have keener ears, quicker reactions and a better co-ordination."

Drivers Past 30 Safer

The middle-aged drivers, between the ages of 30 and 50, he said, "have more experience and more responsibilities and have a better accident rate despite the fact that they drive almost as fast and far as the younger group.

An outstanding paradox of middle-aged drivers is that during the period of least accidents (45-50 miles an hour) there is the greatest incidence of alcoholic drivers."

Dr. DeSilva suggested a "driver clinic" for elderly motorists.

"Drivers, like sick men, can be cured best by helping themselves," he said. "When faced by objective facts old persons can carry out just as successful a self-improvement campaign as young persons.

"Although they may not themselves get into so many accidents, on account of their slow speeds, more leisurely habits of turning corners and more cautious operations at intersections, they may, by hindering the steady flow of traffic, cause others to have accidents."

Coyote Led To Bounty

OAK, Cal. (UP)—Tony Briceno knows how to bring 'em back alive when it comes to coyotes. Unable to run one down with his car because the animal kept too close to a fence, he turned his headlights on so that it would be blinded by the glare, jumped out of the car, picked the coyote up by the tail, while keeping his foot on its head, took off his belt and fastened it around the coyote's neck and led it to the county clerk's office to collect $2.50 bounty.

MEN WHO GROW TOBACCO VOTE IN '39 QUOTAS

Pickaway county tobacco growers, of which there are very few, will vote in a referendum Saturday on whether to continue or discontinue compulsory marketing quotas.

Those who grew tobacco in 1938 are eligible to vote. Balloting will be in the Soil Conservation office in the Farm Bureau home between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Tobacco is grown on about six Pickaway county farms.

The referendum will be held in the Kentucky-Tennessee-Ohio tobacco belt. A two-thirds vote of all producers is required to continue quotas, under which growers are prohibited from marketing more than their poundage allotments.

Last year about 86 percent of the growers in the belt voted for the quotas.

ECUADOR READY TO FIGHT REVOLTING ARMY UNITS

QUITO, Ecuador, Dec. 15—(UP)—President Aurelio Mosquera Narvaez massed artillery and airplanes today to back up his demand for the immediate surrender of dissident army units fortified on Ichimbia hill, dominating the capital, under the leadership of left wing political chieftains.

An order for attack was expected at any hour.

Police, carabiniers and cavalrymen patroled the streets of the capital, and the presidential palace was heavily guarded. Business was suspended. All telephone, telegraph and radio communication was under a strict censorship.

BACK TO FIRST LOVE

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Eng.—(UP)—A decree nisi was granted at Newcastle assize to Mrs. Emily Hancock, of Northallerton, Yorkshire, on the grounds of the misconduct of her husband, Maurice Ernest Hancock, with his first wife. It was explained that Hancock had abandoned his second wife and gone back to live with his first wife.

KNIFER KILLED, GUARD SHOT BY ANGERED YOUTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15 —(UP)—A youth forced his way into San Francisco hospital today, shot and killed Morris Cornpropst, 24, a patient, and critically wounded a policeman guarding Cornpropst.

An orderly overpowered the youth and held him and a woman companion for police.

The youth said he was a brother of Cornpropst's wife. He was identified as Georye Dally, 21.

"I wanted to get even with that guy for stabbing all my family."

Cornpropst was in the hospital recovering from two bullet wounds inflicted, police said, when his wife, Mrs. Sue Dally Cornpropst, shot him after he knifed Mrs. Cornpropst's mother, a sister and a friend last month.

He was under police guard on charges resulting from the stabbing.

The policeman, Walter Salisbury, was in a critical condition. Physicians expected him to die. He was given a blood transfusion.

SNEAD IN QUEST OF MORE MONEY TO FILL PURSE

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15—(UP)—Sammy Snead, who talks southern drawl to a golf ball and it usually obeys, started play in the initial round of the Miami Open championship today already classed by many experts as the equal of Bobby Jones 10 years ago.

Marked up on the credit side of his 1938 bank account was $19,039 and the betting men had made him an almost prohibitive favorite— at 5 to 1—to cop first money of $2,500 in this tournament. If he does he will have set a winning-purse mark which may stand for all times—and that without having won either of the three biggest events for which he is eligible, the U. S. Open, the P. G. A. and the British Open.

This White Sulphur Spring slugger, 25 and a sophomore in the pro ranks, pleads with his ball like a colored boy talks to the dice, and it seems that no self-respecting ball can refuse him. If he is short, it's "get feet baby, get feet." If the shot is a little strong you'll hear "put on the brakes, hold it, hold it." He points like a bird dog after every tee shot and if it begins to slice or hook toward the rough, he cries "no, no, no—no:" in a tone reminiscent of Maxine Sullivan's singing a 'Tisket a 'Tasket.

by radio disputed Italy's "historical" claim to such areas as Tunisia on the basis of early and heavy Italian settlement there. "Ancient history does not create modern rights any more than emigration creates rights over any nation that accepts surplus populations," the article said.

Emphasis on Corsica

France laid particular emphasis on developments of Corsica, which is now being referred to by naval experts as "the French Gibraltar."

Authorities in Corsica were coordinating manifestations of indignation against Italy and press dispatches from Ajaccio reported intense feeling. Guards were maintained at the Italian consulate and at the home of prominent Italian residents as demonstrations continued almost daily.

The mayors of the principal Corsican cities such as Ajaccio, Bastia, and Calvi will join in a series of pro-French demonstrations during Daladier's visit, which incidentally will coincide with the visit of British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to Rome to discuss the Mediterranean and other problems with Fascist Premier Benito Mussolini.

Much for Propaganda

French sources claimed that Italy was spending as much as $500,000 in an effort to create sentiment in Corsica in favor of Italy. They alleged that this fund was being spent to attempt to influence the Corsican press toward Italy. To this end, a tri-monthly revue, Archivio Storico Di Corsica, has been established and the newspaper Il Telegrafo has assumed the task of affirming Corsican desire for union with Italy. Other newspapers also are sent to Corsica from Italy.

In regard to Togoland, which lies on Africa's Atlantic coast. Montagne reported that the population was "profoundly attached to France."

DRAFT OF PLAN FOR AMERICAN PEACE STUDIED

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 15—(UP)—A final draft of the United States project for a united American defense front against foreign political or military invasion—revised to meet the objections of Argentina—was submited privately today to the 21 delegations at the eighth Pan-American conference.

The revised draft, which is almost certain to represent the final declaration by the conference, disclosed changes in the original documents prepared by U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull as a basis for discussion. The changes were designed to:—

1—Meet Argentina's opposition to any accord that might be interpreted as a treaty or alliance. Thus the project will be a declaration by the conference instead of a binding accord.

2—Avoid language that might be considered a direct affront to any European power.

ROTARIANS HEAR YOUNG SINGER, TEST SPELLING

ing their banks to prepare the transfers.

In cases where stocks and bonds were transferred, early preparation was not possible because banks in big cities received instructions only this morning that the value of stocks and bonds must be calculated on the basis of quotations for Nov. 30. These quotations happened to be approximately the same as those today. However, most provincial banks had not received these instructions, which were forwarded by ordinary mail yesterday.

Even if Jews desired, they would not have been able to take stocks and shares to the Nazi authorities direct. They had been instructed to deposit sums assessed against them in banks, and the banks were instructed not to return any such deposits to the depositors.

Recent edicts had made it possible for Jews to transfer securities, land titles, mine royalties and other assets to satisfy today's installment.

LONDON PAPER CLAIMS 15 HIGH GERMANS SLAIN

LONDON, Dec. 15—(UP)—The News Review asserted today that it had excellent authority for reports from Berlin that 15 high ranking army officers had been executed on treason charges and that dozens of others had been sent to concentration camps or military prison.

According to the publication, it was alleged that the men involved planned to raid Adolf Hitler's mountain home in Bavaria, and even contemplated seizing or kill-Hitler.

It was added that the executions apparently were ordered by Hitler himself after a report from Heinrich Himmler, chief of the secret police, the Gestapo, of a conspiracy against government.

There have been frequent reports recently of a political purge in Germany. The reports have not originated in Germany and they have been denied by the German government.

RUSSIA'S VICE CONSUL ENTERS PROBE OF SPIES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15—(UP)—Mikhail Ivanushkin, Soviet vice-consul of New York, conferred in jail with one of two Russians held on charges of stealing American naval secrets and promised a statement sometime today.

Ivanushkin talked with Mikhail Gorin, 34, manager of Soviet Tourist agency, in the county jail. Gorin, a Soviet citizen, was held with Hafish Salich, 33, a naturalized American, under $25,000 bond.

Accompanying the vice-consul were United States Attornay Benjamin Harrison, and a federal agent. United States Marshal Robert Clark granted Ivanushkin permission to see his countrymen.

"I hope to have some kind of a statement later today," he said. "I have not had time to study the case yet."

After the play we will have about forty-five minutes of singing that will be in charge of our music teacher, Chestora Dountz.

Sophomore News

We are at the time of this writing practicing salesmanship in English.

In Latin we have decided to have a Christmas party with our exchange of gifts, we will have entertainments and also refreshments.

Also in Latin we are studying the ways the Romans lived, how differently they lived from us today, of what their homes are made of and the peculiar way they were built, of what kind of furniture which consisted of a table which was round or square. They did not have chairs like we have today, but couches which they layed down on to eat and with which the fingers were used instead of knife, fork or spoon. Statues, beds, and lamps which gave but poor light also were in the homes.

Since Dorothy Mayberry is not with us any longer, the vice-president who is Bertha Pope of Hobby Lobby club will take her place as president.

We are learning how to wrap packages and postage on letters in junior business training. We are also reading a very interesting story in English "Treasure Island" which we are almost finished with.

YOUTH AND AGE ERR AT WHEEL

NEW HAVEN, Conn. Dec. 15 (UP)—Dr. Harry R. DeSilva, conducting a program of driver research at Yale's Institute of Human Relations classifies youthful and elderly drivers as the most unreliable on the highways.

"Most of our elderly motorists," he said, "learned to drive relatively late in life when their habits were rather inflexible. Elderly persons learn more slowly, and when they have attained a minimum standard of skill are more likely to be satisfied than youngsters. Many have never pushed on to the higher level of skill reached by present-day young people, so many of whom receive vigorous training followed by an examination. Add to this the fact that elderly persons learned to drive with old, noisy, slow cars with high seats and correspondingly easy visibility on uncongested highways, and one sees a reason for present-day maladjustments among our 'old-timers'."

Youth Lacks Restraint

Youths, in their teens and early 20s, he finds, while more skillful, "have the greatest accident incidence."

"They drive more rapidly and travel farther than older drivers. Having less experience and responsibilities (there are fewer car owners and less married men in the younger age group) they undoubtedly drive with less restraint and are more interested in getting places in a hurry. They have less insight into their own faults and into the possible defects of their cars. Since they are continually exploring new and unfamiliar roads they are less acquainted with the dangers that may confront them on the highway.

"Their ability to respond to complex situations and emergencies is not as good as it will be in later years. The chief redeeming virtue of young people is that they have keener ears, quicker reactions and a better co-ordination."

Drivers Past 30 Safer

The middle-aged drivers, between the ages of 30 and 50, he said, "have more experience and more responsibilities and have a better accident rate despite the fact that they drive almost as fast and far as the younger group.

An outstanding paradox of middle-aged drivers is that during the period of least accidents (45-50 miles an hour) there is the greatest incidence of alcoholic drivers."

Dr. DeSilva suggested a "driver clinic" for elderly motorists.

"Drivers, like sick men, can be cured best by helping themselves," he said. "When faced by objective facts old persons can carry out just as successful a self-improvement campaign as young persons.

"Although they may not themselves get into so many accidents, on account of their slow speeds, more leisurely habits of turning corners and more cautious operations at intersections, they may, by hindering the steady flow of traffic, cause others to have accidents."

Coyote Led To Bounty

OAK, Cal. (UP)—Tony Briceno knows how to bring 'em back alive when it comes to coyotes. Unable to run one down with his car because the animal kept too close to a fence, he turned his headlights on so that it would be blinded by the glare, jumped out of the car, picked the coyote up by the tail, while keeping his foot on its head, took off his belt and fastened it around the coyote's neck and led it to the county clerk's office to collect $2.50 bounty.

MEN WHO GROW TOBACCO VOTE IN '39 QUOTAS

Pickaway county tobacco growers, of which there are very few, will vote in a referendum Saturday on whether to continue or discontinue compulsory marketing quotas.

Those who grew tobacco in 1938 are eligible to vote. Balloting will be in the Soil Conservation office in the Farm Bureau home between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Tobacco is grown on about six Pickaway county farms.

The referendum will be held in the Kentucky-Tennessee-Ohio tobacco belt. A two-thirds vote of all producers is required to continue quotas, under which growers are prohibited from marketing more than their poundage allotments.

Last year about 86 percent of the growers in the belt voted for the quotas.

Tigers "Hopeful" In Friday's Trip To Chillicothe

The last time this column said the Tigers were invading the bailiwick of an athletic foe and expecting to put up a great battle which might end in victory the team lost by 75 to 6 . . . That game was at Greenfield and Red "Keep 'em all in" Armstrong ran Carl Grate almost to the point of collapse in tallying his "record" score : : : Now comes a basketball season and a win and a loss on the Tiger record . . . The Red and Black invades Chillicothe's spacious court Friday evening and, while ye janitor is not saying that the Tigers will play the game of their careers, here's just a little tip : : : Don't be surprised if Chillicothe is surprised by a surprisingly improved Tiger squad : : : Last week's victory over Columbus Holy Rosary may have provided the spark that will turn our boys into battling Tigers of the victory-seeking type : : : There's no getting around the fact that the Red and Black was much tougher against Holy Rosary than it was against the pretty good Amanda team a week earlier . . . Notice how those Amanda lads are playing ball * * * *

Coaches Roy Black and Tom Armstrong are pouring plenty of fundamentals into their charges, ball handling and passing being stressed from the start of one drill to the first : : : : Right now it looks like Whitey Davis and Bill Heffner will be at forwards, Paul Walters at center and Warren Bumgarner and Red Hughes at the defensive posts : : : These boys will be in there because they are the best the Tiger mentors have and they seem to be clicking : : The reserves will include Staley, Bowshier and Smith, with other members of the reserve squad being expected to see service in the preliminary : : : : Because of the size of the Chilly floor, fresh replacements will be imperative : : : Anyway the reserve game doesn't mean near so much as that between the varsities * * *

The Chillicothe combination is being touted as light and little : : : Dean Brooks and Howard Baker, forward and guard, respectively, have been named co-captains of the Red Devil team . . . Dick West will be at the other forward, Harold Stout, who is said to be less than six feet tall and weighing about 146 pounds, will be at center, and Leslie Hedgepath or Bob Overly will be at the guards : : : : Coach Earl Young says his boys will be flashy and, coming from Young, that is something : : : To hear the Chillicothean talk his cagers would never win a ball game, but they seem to do that quite often * * *

Two sets of new uniforms will be used by the Chillicothe boys, one being of scarlet satin with royal blue numbers, and the other being of royal blue with scarlet trimmings : : : Two officials will work the contest. They are Ralph Crook, Lancaster athletic director, and Herb Jones of Wellston, who was one of the arbiters in the county tournament here last year.

GORDON, FELLER TO HAVE GREAT YEAR, VOTE SAYS

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(UP)—The star that will blaze brightest across the world of sports in 1939, in the opinion of the nation's sports editors, is young Joe Gordon, second baseman of the New York Yankees.

He got more votes than anybody else—13 percent—as the answer to the question of who will be the athlete to show the greatest improvment in the new year. Close behind with 12 percent came Bob Feller, fireball pitcher for the Cleveland Indians. Bobby Riggs chief hope of the United States in the international tennis wars now that Don Budge has turned professional, finished in third place with 10 percent.

Gordon, playing his first year in the major leagues, hit .255 and fielded. 960 and 1938. He was a streak of fire in the World Series at the plate and in the field. The sports editors who voted for him said all he needed was experience to equal feats of such great second baseman as Lajoie, Frisch and Gehringer.

Coming up with eight percent of the votes was that familiar name, Dizzy Dean. Those voting for Dean predicted he would come back and have a great year with the Chicago Cubs after his arm is rested through the Winter. Ben Hogan, promising young professional golfer, also received eight percent.

OPENING GAMES SCHEDULED FOR WEDNESDAY EVE

Halves Of 16 Minutes To Be Played; Eby Referees First Card

Eight basketball teams, which will include outstanding cage stars of city and county teams performing in the last several years, will participate in the Circleville Basketball league, which swings into action next Wednesday evening. All games will be played in the Circleville Athletic Club gymnasium.

Teams will include Emery club, Cuz Dumm manager; Caskey Cleaners, Denny Beougher manager; Eshelman mill, Forrest Brown manager; Ralston-Purina, Ray Anderson manager; Wallace bakery, L. W. Cupp manager; Stevenson's furniture, Glenn Weaver manager; George Bach insurance, Dick Cockerill manager, and a group of Stoutsville cagers to be backed in Circleville, the definite sponsor not yet determined.

All eight teams will play each week the first game starting at 7:30 o'clock. Games will consist of 16 minute halves with one game being delayed long enough for two other teams to play a half. Byron Eby will referee next week's contests.

Games Scheduled

Games next week will be played in the following order: Ralston-Purina vs. Wallace bakery; Caskey Cleaners vs. Stoutsville; Eshelman mill vs. Bach's insurance; Stevenson's furniture vs. Emery club.

Fifteen applicants were read at the meeting held Wednesday evening in the C. A. C. clubrooms. John Heiskell, president of the league, said that eight teams were represented, so all eight were accepted.

Games the first night will be played for charity, 25 percent of the gross being turned into the Christmas tree fund. Tickets are on sale for the charity evening, all team managers having them. The price of 15 cents will prevail for high school students and adults with children under high school age getting in for a dime.

ASHVILLE MEETS NEW HOLLAND'S FAST BULLDOGS

All roads will lead to Ashville Friday evening when Al Kauber's fast varsity takes on the battling New Holland Bulldogs. The Ashville lads are undefeated in county play and, even though the season has not progressed very far the Harrison township lads stand on top the county league alone.

The Bulldogs, underdogs in every sense of the world, will be in there battling for an upset.

Ashville's strength is centered about Roese, Gregg and Walden, while New Holland depends a lot on Joe Davis, clever guard, to carry the brunt of the attack and direct the defense.

Other games in the county Friday, several of which promise to be outstanding, send Williamsport to Jackson, Walnut to Washington, Pickaway to Saltcreek, Muhlenberg to Monroe and Darby to Scioto.

They'll Begin 1939 as New Major Managers

DEL BAKER, LEO DUROCHER, GABBY HARTNETT, DOC PROTHRO, FRED HANEY

MAJOR league baseball's new managers for 1939 are snapped in a get-together at the major league meeting in New York. Left to right, they are Del Baker of the Detroit Tigers, Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs (he was named manager in mid-season last year). Doc Prothro of the Philadelphia Phillies and Fred Haney of the St. Louis Browns.

Various Bowl Teams Drilling For Big Games; Wade Looks to His Mighty Line

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15—(UP)—The Trojans of Southern California training for their Rose Bowl football game with Duke, enjoyed a day of rest today. They will resume practice tomorrow afternoon and hold a brief session Saturday.

The first rains since last Spring halted their workout yesterday. But not before red-haired Halfback Boyd Morgan had injured his knee. Morgan will not return to practice until Monday. Quarterback Grenville Lansdell was on the sick list with a cold and Oliver Day took charge on the field yesterday. The team worked briefly on passing, kicking and running.

DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 15—(UP)—Coach Wallace Wade of Duke indicated today that his strong line and rugged defense would be the Blue Devils' main weapon for a Rose Bowl victory over Southern California.

For the third straight day, the Blue Devils yesterday worked on defense, with the strong freshman team trying to score with U. S. C. plays. Eric Tipton, star kicker of the unbeaten and unscored on Dukes, was the standout player, running with power and elusiveness.

Wesley McCaffe, sophomore halfback who received a slight leg injury in Monday's drill, was back in uniform.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 15—(UP)—Carnegie Tech, training for its Sugar Bowl game against Texas Christian, is using an imitation Davey O'Brien to sharpen up pass defense.

Little Pete Moroz, built along the same line as the Christian's all-America quarterback, worked with the Carnegie subs yesterday as the first team had its first scrimmage since resuming practice.

Moroz, though not used much in the recent season, has a style like O'Brien and he heaved passes in every direction in order to accustom the first stringers to what O'Brien is expected to do.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Dec. 15—(UP)—Texas Christian begins practice today for its Sugar Bowl game against Carnegie Tech at New Orleans on January 2. The entire squad of the unbeaten and untied team was in top shape.

Davey O'Brien, all-America quarterback, and Ki Aldrich, all-America center, were back from trips to receive various honors coincidental with their selection on mythical "all" teams.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 15—(UP)—Unbeaten and untied Tennessee gets down to serious work next Monday for its Orange Bowl football game January at Miami against Oklahoma, another perfect record eleven.

Most of the squad of 41 went home for the week-end after mid-year examinations ended yesterday. Trainer Mickey O'Brien expected the champions of the Southeastern conference to be in top shape next week.

George Cafego, star halfback, has recovered from a sprained back; broken hands of Halfback Babe Wood and Tackle Bob Woodruff have mended and a cut under Fullback Joe Wallen's eye was hardly noticeable.

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 15—(UP)—Oklahoma, which meets Tennesse in the Orange Bowl, prepared to settle down to serious work today as head Coach Tom Stidham returned to the campus.

Stidham had been to New Orleans to make arrangements for the "Sooners" to workout enroute to Miami. The team went through a light practice.

AL LITWAK HONORED

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15—(UP)—Al Litwak, stock quarterback from Barberton, O., was elected honorary captain of the 1938 undefeated and untied Western Reserve football team last night.

MAXIE BAER HAS GREAT INTEREST IN FRIDAY BOUT

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(UP)—When young Lou Nova of Alameda, Cal., steps into Madison Square Garden ring tomorrow night to battle Welshman Tommy Farr, one of the most interested observers will be some 3,000 miles away.

He is Max Baer, former heavyweight champion who still hopes to become the first man ever to regain boxing's most prized crown. Baer, now in California, liked Farr earlier this year and figured he was a cinch to make his next start against Champion Joe Louis.

But Promoter Mike Jacobs, who controls the destinies of most heavyweights, decided today that Baer must fight once more before he gets another shot at Louis. Mike probably wants to make sure Baers' excellent showing against Farr the last time out was no fluke.

Ancil Hoffman, Baer's manager speaking from California, said there would be no point in meeting Farr again. He has no objection, however, to Maxie facing Nova.

"Didn't Max lick Farr once?" Hoffman sputtered over the long-distance telephone. But you can bet all the tea in China that despite Hoffman's objections, Baer will be stepping into a ring before Spring against tomorrow's winner.

INDIAN, BOSTON TRADE TO OPEN WAY FOR DEALS

Cleveland Gets Chapman For Galehouse And Rookie Irwin

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(UP)—Frozen trading activities in the American league were thawed out today with a deal between the Cleveland Indians and th Boston Red Sox.

After nearly 48 hours of lobbying and verbal bartering between this and that club the Red Sox swapped Ben Chapman, a .340 hitter, to the Indians for Pitcher Deny Galehouse and Infielder Tommy Irwin, who shortstopped last season for the Milwaukee American association club.

This deal was expected to be the forerunner of several other American league trades, originating from the Cleveland-Detroit axis. With Chapman to play center field, the Indians are in a position to trade Earl Averill. Present rumors send him to the Tigers for Pitcher Eldon Auker and Infielder Billy Rogell. If this deal can be made, or one similar, then the Tigers can swap Outfielder Pete Fox and Infielder Roy Christman to Washington for Infielder Cecil Travis.

This could go on like a chain letter. The idea of the Red Sox, Tigers and Indians is to build ball clubs to challenge the Yankees next season. They are fully cognizant of the fact that they can still finish two-three-or-four by standing pat.

Three Gambling

But Walter O. Briggs, owner of the Tigers; Alva Bradley, owner of the Indians; and Tom Yawkey, owner of the Red Sox, all want a pennant winner. They are playing poker in an effort to dethrone the Yankees.

Meanwhile, officials of both leagues were congratulating themselves on the most harmonious meeting in years as they went into joint session with Commissioner K. M. Landis. The following results have been achieved:

1—A uniform baseball for both leagues.

2—Agreement on new pitching rules designed to give the pitcher more latitude in his delivery.

3—Night baseball in the American league for Cleveland and Philadelphia.

The Chicago Cubs paved the way for the acquisition of a player from the St. Louis Cardinals by selling Outfielder Jim Asbell to Houston and Outfielder Coaker Triplett to Columbus, both Card farms. The rumor was that the Cubs would wind up with Outfielder "Country" Slaughter, Cardinal freshman last year.

Two attempts by the Chicago Sox to make deals fell through. Jimmy Dykes offered Outfielder Rip Radcliff to the Athletics for Outfielder Hal Finney, and offered Infielder Boze Berger to the Red Sox for Infielder Eric McNair.

Chuckovitz Begins Drive To Set New Cage Mark

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15 — (UP) — Away to a sizzling pace of 50 points in two games, Chuck Chuckovitz, University of Toledo's great forward, renews tonight his assault on the three-year Ohio basketball record set last year by Nick Frascella of Wooster.

Chuckovitz and the other Rockets play host of the St. Mary's five from Winona, Minn., which will meet John Carroll Saturday night in Cleveland.

Although slightly behind his two-game mark of 65 last year when he tallied 41 points in the second game against Adrian, the high-scoring Toledo forward can easily break Frascella's record if he maintains a pace even close to 20 points. The Rockets play 28 games and Chuck needs only nine points a game to top Frscella's 983 points for three seasons.

Chuckovitz netted 24 points in Toledo's opener against Hillsdale and 26 against Defiance Monday night.

On other floors tonight, Ohio Northern and Ashland, each with one Ohio conference triumph in the past week, clash at Ashland; Muskingum meets Kent State in another conference title while Wittenberg continues its strenuous road trip against Swarthmore in Pennsylvania.

Dennison over Kenyon

Denison trimmed Kenyon, 36 to 32, last night in the Big Red's debut in a close game all the way. Denison led, 19 to 15, at the half. Al McNeil made nine points for Denison and Stu Chubbuck netted the same total for Kenyon.

Two sophomores, Dick Hartman of Findlay with 20 points and Jack Buttermore of Massillon with 18, sparkled Ohio Wesleyan to a surprising 74 to 47 margin over Western Michigan State Teachers college at Delaware.

Jim Zechman looped in 22 points while Bowling Green measured Ypsilanti Teachers, 48 to 41.

Wittenberg's traveling squad ran into its first setback in three games when Muhlenberg won, 36 to 34, at Allentown, Pa.

INDIAN, BOSTON TRADE TO OPEN WAY FOR DEALS

Cleveland Gets Chapman For Galehouse And Rookie Irwin

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(UP)—Frozen trading activities in the American league were thawed out today with a deal between the Cleveland Indians and th Boston Red Sox.

After nearly 48 hours of lobbying and verbal bartering between this and that club the Red Sox swapped Ben Chapman, a .340 hitter, to the Indians for Pitcher Deny Galehouse and Infielder Tommy Irwin, who shortstopped last season for the Milwaukee American association club.

This deal was expected to be the forerunner of several other American league trades, originating from the Cleveland-Detroit axis. With Chapman to play center field, the Indians are in a position to trade Earl Averill. Present rumors send him to the Tigers for Pitcher Eldon Auker and Infielder Billy Rogell. If this deal can be made, or one similar, then the Tigers can swap Outfielder Pete Fox and Infielder Roy Christman to Washington for Infielder Cecil Travis.

This could go on like a chain letter. The idea of the Red Sox, Tigers and Indians is to build ball clubs to challenge the Yankees next season. They are fully cognizant of the fact that they can still finish two-three-or-four by standing pat.

Three Gambling

But Walter O. Briggs, owner of the Tigers; Alva Bradley, owner of the Indians; and Tom Yawkey, owner of the Red Sox, all want a pennant winner. They are playing poker in an effort to dethrone the Yankees.

Meanwhile, officials of both leagues were congratulating themselves on the most harmonious meeting in years as they went into joint session with Commissioner K. M. Landis. The following results have been achieved:

1—A uniform baseball for both leagues.

2—Agreement on new pitching rules designed to give the pitcher more latitude in his delivery.

3—Night baseball in the American league for Cleveland and Philadelphia.

The Chicago Cubs paved the way for the acquisition of a player from the St. Louis Cardinals by selling Outfielder Jim Asbell to Houston and Outfielder Coaker Triplett to Columbus, both Card farms. The rumor was that the Cubs would wind up with Outfielder "Country" Slaughter, Cardinal freshman last year.

Two attempts by the Chicago Sox to make deals fell through. Jimmy Dykes offered Outfielder Rip Radcliff to the Athletics for Outfielder Hal Finney, and offered Infielder Boze Berger to the Red Sox for Infielder Eric McNair.

Chuckovitz Begins Drive To Set New Cage Mark

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15 — (UP) — Away to a sizzling pace of 50 points in two games, Chuck Chuckovitz, University of Toledo's great forward, renews tonight his assault on the three-year Ohio basketball record set last year by Nick Frascella of Wooster.

Chuckovitz and the other Rockets play host of the St. Mary's five from Winona, Minn., which will meet John Carroll Saturday night in Cleveland.

Although slightly behind his two-game mark of 65 last year when he tallied 41 points in the second game against Adrian, the high-scoring Toledo forward can easily break Frascella's record if he maintains a pace even close to 20 points. The Rockets play 28 games and Chuck needs only nine points a game to top Frscella's 983 points for three seasons.

Chuckovitz netted 24 points in Toledo's opener against Hillsdale and 26 against Defiance Monday night.

On other floors tonight, Ohio Northern and Ashland, each with one Ohio conference triumph in the past week, clash at Ashland; Muskingum meets Kent State in another conference title while Wittenberg continues its strenuous road trip against Swarthmore in Pennsylvania.

Dennison over Kenyon

Denison trimmed Kenyon, 36 to 32, last night in the Big Red's debut in a close game all the way. Denison led, 19 to 15, at the half. Al McNeil made nine points for Denison and Stu Chubbuck netted the same total for Kenyon.

Two sophomores, Dick Hartman of Findlay with 20 points and Jack Buttermore of Massillon with 18, sparkled Ohio Wesleyan to a surprising 74 to 47 margin over Western Michigan State Teachers college at Delaware.

Jim Zechman looped in 22 points while Bowling Green measured Ypsilanti Teachers, 48 to 41.

Wittenberg's traveling squad ran into its first setback in three games when Muhlenberg won, 36 to 34, at Allentown, Pa.

NEW SETTLERS TRY TRANSVAAL

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Dec. 15—(UP)—South Africa is tackling the problem of settling people on the land by a scheme of irrigation and assisted settlement in the vast area between the Vaal and Hartz Rivers in the Transvaal.

The plan is to settle between 1,500 and 2,000 families on the land, of which 100,000 acres are being watered by the largest irigation scheme in the country. Another 200,000 acres of dry land, bordering on the irrigated tract, also are available.

Work was begun in November, 1933, and there are now 78 families, with 244 children, in the new settlement. Another group of 50 settlers will arrive before Jan. 1, and a further 50 early in 1939.

The groups of 50 are chosen from as many as 1,200 applicants at a time. The selection is carefully made, since the object of the scheme is to make each settler self-supporting in a short time.

Requirements Are Rigid

Each applicant has to be vouched for by responsible persons, approve that he is in sound health and has the kind of character necessary to stand the hard work which lies before him. Preference is given to the married men, and no bachelors have been settled yet.

The accepted settler is allotted 60 acres of land, which may be reduced to 40 when richer soil is developed. The government clears 20 acres of large trees and boulders, and leaves him to do the rest.

He is provided with a house, a plow, six trek oxen, a wagon, cow and farming implements. For the first six months he is paid $15 a month with $3 additional for each child up to a maximum of $25. (Unmarried men will receive $10 after that the settler and his family must live on what they grow.

This probationary period can be extended to five years as a maximum, but it is considered that 18 months should be enough to show whether the settler is capable of making a living from the land. If he has not made good in five years he goes out.

House Per Day Built

Houses for the settlers are built on an "assembly line" system like motor cars, with the exception that whereas the car chassis moves along the line on its way to completion, the 30 gangs of builders and carpenters move along the row of houses. About 220 houses have been built in little over a year, and since April the rate has been a house a day.

They are built with two-inch cavity walls of concrete block, ensuring an even temperature throughout the year, each house has two or three bedrooms, a large dinning room, kitchen and bath room, and the cost is $1,250 each.

The Vaal-Hartz area is one of variable and unpredictable rainfall, and the heaviest rainfall comes in March, which is the end of the season for crops. Irrigation therefore is the foundation of the entire settlement scheme.

The Ministry of Lands, which has charge of the scheme, aims at combining agriculture and stock raising. The first settlers were given four or five cows each, but when the scheme is fully working it is hoped to give each setter 10.

Arms Broken, Drives Car

RICHMOND, Cal. (UP)—It presumably never occurred to California legislators that they should enact a law to forbid people with broken arms driving a car. Mrs Mary Reahak, 54, however, demonstrated that it can be done when, suffering fractures of both her arms in an automobile accident, she continued to drive the car home, where she summoned medical aid.

Vicious Circle At Work

KERANG, Australia (UP) - Drs. Pook and Munro, physician and partners, have their own conception of what constitutes a "vicious circle." After work in the local hospital, they left by separate doors, got into their cars and started for home. Dr. Pook turned to the right and Dr. Munro to the left. Both traveled a block and then crashed into each other.

NEW SETTLERS TRY TRANSVAAL

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Dec. 15—(UP)—South Africa is tackling the problem of settling people on the land by a scheme of irrigation and assisted settlement in the vast area between the Vaal and Hartz Rivers in the Transvaal.

The plan is to settle between 1,500 and 2,000 families on the land, of which 100,000 acres are being watered by the largest irigation scheme in the country. Another 200,000 acres of dry land bordering on the irrigated tract also are available.

Work was begun in November 1933, and there are now 78 families, with 244 children, in the new settlement. Another group of 50 settlers will arrive before Jan. 1 and a further 50 early in 1939.

The groups of 50 are chosen from as many as 1,200 applicants at a time. The selection is carefully made, since the object of the scheme is to make each settler self-supporting in a short time.

Requirements Are Rigid

Each applicant has to be vouched for by responsible persons, prove that he is in sound he and has the kind of characte necessary to stand the hard worl which lies before him. Preferenc is given to the married men, an no bachelors have been settle yet.

The accepted settler is allote 60 acres of land, which may be re duced to 40 when richer soil i developed. The government clear 20 acres of large trees and boulders, and leaves him to do the res

He is provided with a house, plow, six trek oxen, a wagon, cow and farming implements. For th first six months he is paid $15 month with $3 additional for eac child up to a maximum of $2 (Unmarried men will receive $10 after that the settler and his fan ily must live on what they gro

This probationary period can extended to five years as a max mum, but it is considered that months should be enough to sho whether the settler is capable making a living from the land. he has not made good in five yea he goes out.

House Per Day Built

Houses for the settlers are bu on an "assembly line" system li motor cars, with the excepti that whereas the car chas moves along the line on its w to completion, the 30 gangs builders and carpenters mo along the row of houses. Abo 220 houses have been bu in little over a year, and since Ap the rate has been a house a day

They are built with two-i cavity walls of concrete bloc ensuring an even temperatu throughout the year, each ho has two or three bedrooms, a la dinning room, kitchen and ba room, and the cost is $1,250 ea

The Vaal-Hartz area is one variable and unpredictable ra fall, and the heaviest rain comes in March, which is the of the season for crops. Irrigat therefore is the foundation of entire settlement scheme.

The Ministry of Lands, wh has charge of the scheme, aims combining agriculture and st raising. The first settlers w given four or five cows each, when the scheme is fully work it is hoped to give each setter

Arms Broken, Drives Car

RICHMOND, Cal. (UP)—It sumably never occurred to C fornia legislators that they sh enact a law to forbid people broken arms driving a car. Mary Reahak, 54, however, d onstrated that it can be when, suffering fractures of her arms in an automobile dent, she continued to drive car home, where she summ medical aid.

Vicious Circle At Work

SPORTSMEN PROTEST GAME DEPARTMENT'S FISH DISTRIBUTION POLICY

COUNTIANS ASK RIGHT TO PLACE CONSIGNMENTS

Secretary To Write State Office To Obtain Voice In Program

CANAL NOT SATISFACTORY

Association Says Flood Waters Take Supply Into Scioto

Pickaway county sportsmen want to know why they are not permitted to select streams in which fish from state hatcheries are released.

Twenty members of the Pickaway Farmer's and Sportsman's association, meeting Wednesday night in the B. P. O. Elks home, voted for Harry Bartholomew, secretary, to ask this question of the conservation department.

The group protested the release of catfish in the canal this week. They contend the fish placed in the canal on several occasions have been taken into the Scioto river by flood waters. They believe other streams in the county more suitable for restocking.

Drivers Instructed

The sportsmen were told the truck drivers of the conservation department, who bring the fish to the county, have instructions as to where they are to be released and must comply with those orders.

Roy Beaty, Sam Scott, M. L. Binkley and Harry Bartholomew were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for the removal of 25 pheasant pens from the B. S. Millar farm to a new location for raising birds next year.

The club was informed that about 1,500 rabbits would be received in this county from the conservation department after the first of the year. These rabbits will be distributed throughout the county by conservation officers and sportsmen.

It is estimated that about 300 rabbits will be trapped from the eight closed areas in the county for distribution in open districts during January.

WALKER TO ENTER PRISON WITHIN NEXT FEW DAYS

Ira Walker, 54, Chillicothe barber, will be taken to the Ohio penitentiary within the next few days to begin a life sentence for the slaying of Fred A. Turner, former Circleville resident, last Aug. 24.

A court of three judges found Walker guilty of first degree murder and added a mercy clause. No appeal is contemplated.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED

CHILLICOTHE, Dec. 15—An entry overruling a motion for a new trial for Edward Burt, Londondery, convicted of manslaughter in the slaying of Ben F. Hunter, last July 22, was to be filed in Common Pleas court Thursday. The defense contemplates appealing the case.

War Goods Trial Defendants

THE THREE above are on trial in Washington on charges of conspiracy to prevent Frank Speicher, tire salesman, from testifying before the House Military Affairs Committee in 1933 when it was probing reports of the splitting of $10,000,000 in war material contracts. Joseph Silverman (left) and his brother Nathan (center) are New York war material dealers. Former Brig. Gen. Alexander E. Williams (right) was court martialed and dismissed from the service after the House inquiry.

HALLSVILLE MAN MAY BE RULED LEGALLY DEAD

Floyd Pontius, Hallsville, missing since Oct. 13, 1931, has 12 weeks after Dec. 28 to appear in Probate court in Ross county or he will be declared legally dead.

Mrs. Pontious filed a petition last October saying that Pontious left no will and asking to be appointed administratrix of his estate if the court holds he is presumptively dead. Legal heirs are Mrs. Pontious and a son, Lloyd Russell, 16. The estate consists of real estate in Hallsville and in Green and Colerain townships, all valued at $1,400. It is understood unofficially that payment of a $5,000 life insurance policy hinges on the ruling in the case after March 22.

Mr. Pontious left his home on Oct. 13, 1931. He told his wife he was going to Kingston. His hat and coat were found on the shore of Buckeye Lake near Millersport. In his car was a farewell note. It informed the family of certain debts he owed and said his body would be found at the bottom of the lake. The body was not found.

C. S. WOODRUFF TO ATTEND OHIO TEACHERS MEETING

Carroll S. Woodruff, principal of Jackson township school, will be a delegate to the Ohio Education convention in Columbus, Dec. 27 to 29, replacing Carl D. Bennett. Mr. Bennett plans a trip to Florida during the holiday season. The other delegate is Kenneth E. List, principal of Deercreek township school. Mrs. Margie Arnold, elementary teacher at New Holland school, is an alternate.

LEGION IN MEETING

Lack of a quorum prevented transaction of business Wednesday evening at the meeting of Howard Hall post, American Legion.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, December 15

THE PLANETARY rulership on this day is doubtful and perplexing with many problems and readjustments needed to promote well-being, prosperity and happy relations, particularly with elders and superiors or old established institutions. This situation calls for some compromises, as many dangers lurk in open opposition and through subtle and probably sinister undercurrents.

Finances are in jeopardy, so shun ways of trickery and deceit, especially in investments and other important ventures that affect both the private and business lives.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of perplexity, limitation and setback, with a tendency to gloom and depression caused by frustration. There are signs of opposition from elders or superiors, and also of treacheries and sinister schemes from larger organizations. All affect finances, investments and property, and may have gloomy reactions on the personal life. Be alert to fraudulent propositions or manipulations.

A child born on this day may have a difficult character to analyze or understand, as it may be rigid, hidebound and tenacious, with tendencies to manage affairs by strategem or peculiar tactics. Its intentions may not be sinister, although they may be misjudged and excite bitter opposition.

LIBRARY BOOK TRUCK TO REVISE HOLIDAY RUNS

Due to the school holiday, the Pickaway county book truck will skip the regular schedule from Dec. 27 to Dec. 30. Stops ordinarily scheduled for this period will be served two weeks later on the regular trip.

Texas Christian university and Carnegie Tech meet in the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans Jan. 2—and both schools are hoping for heavy sugar.

DEAN FORESEES INFANT SCHOOLS

BLACKWELL, Okla.—Dec. 15—(UP)—A college dean predicted here that children someday will start attending public school "at the plastic age of 18 months."

The day when this will occur is not far off, Dean W. H. Threlkeld of the University Junior College at Tonkawa said in a speech before the Blackwell Rotary Club.

The idea, he said, is to give the state greater opportunity "to mold the development of children along such lines that their future lives may be enrichened."

Speaking on the position that education holds in present-day society, Threlkeld said that most learning is "informal." he explained that most of it is gathered from contacts with others rather than from books.

It is because of this, he said, that school training should be extended to the very young.

"Often the gossip that falls upon the ear of a naive child will affect all the rest of his life," Threlkeld said. "Many of the philosophies that we contend with in this country today make dangerous fare for persons too young to fully understand them."

The dean said that in his opinion children should be placed "in the favorable atmosphere of the classroom" at the age of a year and a half and kept there until they are about 20.

He termed schooling "the biggest business in the United States and the most important function of society as a group." But he added:

"Despite the continued expansion and the more scientific approach of the educational system, the most important person a child ever meets still is his mother."

Parents as well as children should be considered in any new plan for improving the system, he declared.

Threlkeld noted an increase of 325 per cent during the last 30 years in the number of persons attending colleges. High school students increased 800 per cent during the period, he said.

PRIMITIVE OAKS OF OZARKS CUT FOR DISTILLERY

ST. JAMES, Mo. (UP)—Giant oak trees in a 1,600-acre primitive Ozark forest — one of Missouri's few remaining stands of virgin timber — are being cut to make whisky barrel staves.

The forest, comprising about three square miles, is part of a 5,600-acre site near here owned by W. H. Powell, lumberman and former mayor of St. James, which is 100 miles southwest of St. James.

Approximately 40,000 oaks, many of them from two to four feet in diameter, will be cut, sawed into staves at a sawmill here, and sold. James said a crew of 40 men is felling the trees, and will be kept at work for a year.

In addition to the white and bur oaks, large ash, sycamore, maple, elm and walnut trees grow in abundance.

Powell's land adjoins the site of Meramec Springs, one of the largest in the state and one of the beauty spots of the Ozarks. Because of its scenic beauty the entire area was suggested several years ago as a state park, but the proposal was not adopted.

ALCOHOL TEST PLUS AND PLUS, BUT HE'S SOBER

TORONTO—(UP)—Walter E. Lunn's ability to absorb alcohol amazed medical authorities here.

During an inquest into a fatal accident, Dr. W. L. Robinson, Toronto University pathology professor, told a coroner's jury, that, according to a new blood test, the alcoholic contest of Lunn's blood after the accident was 3.8 to 1,000 parts of blood—enough, according to accepted standards to make anyone completely drunk.

Coroner W. H. Avery, who conducted the inquest, however, told the jury that Lunn was quite normal after the accident except for a slight odor of alcohol on his breath.

"According to the test," the coroner said, "Lunn should have been absolutely drunk and unable to walk staright and answer questions. Yet when I saw him he did not appear to be drunk and he was very co-operative concerning the blood test."

SPORTSMEN PROTEST GAME DEPARTMENT'S FISH DISTRIBUTION POLICY

Association Says Flood Waters Take Supply Into Scioto

Pickaway county sportsmen want to know why they are not permitted to select streams in which fish from state hatcheries are released.

Twenty members of the Pickaway Farmer's and Sportsman's association, meeting Wednesday night in the B. P. O. Elks home, voted for Harry Bartholomew, secretary, to ask this question of the conservation department.

The group protested the release of catfish in the canal this week. They contend the fish placed in the canal on several occasions have been taken into the Scioto river by flood waters. They believe other streams in the county more suitable for restocking.

Drivers Instructed

The sportsmen were told the truck drivers of the conservation department, who bring the fish to the county, have instructions as to where they are to be released and must comply with those orders.

Roy Beaty, Sam Scott, M. L. Binkley and Harry Bartholomew were appointed as a committee to make arrangements for the removal of 25 pheasant pens from the B. S. Millar farm to a new location for raising birds next year.
